

MUSSEL ROCK DUMP SITE in Daly City has come under fire from the Regional Bay Area Quality Control Water Board for contributing to the pollution of water along the coastline. Daly City mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett disputes the charges and says "This may have been true three or four years ago, but not anymore." Refuse no longer washes out to sea from the present dumping site, the mayor said. Also blamed for polluting the shores was a coastguard station off Bolinas Point and San Francisco. The latter dumps treated sewerage from some 800,000 persons into the ocean from two outlets, the Board said. (Post Photo)

Firemen in D.C. Suspect Arson in Apartment Blaze

SUSPECT ARSON — Arson investigators of the American Insurance Association (formerly National Board of Fire Underwriters) combed through the charred ruins of an apartment complex in Daly City this week in the hope of pinpointing the cause and origin of a $50,000 fire which swept through six buildings on Peoria Street and Edgewood Court. (Post Photo)

Third Time Complex Is Hit By Fire

Arson was suspected in a general alarm fire which swept through three apartment buildings under construction in Daly City this week, causing an estimated $50,000 damage.

It was the third time in less than five months that fire had hit the apartment complex.

Arson was suspected in all three blazes.

The apartments, located at Edgewood Court and Peoria Streets, were heavily damaged last February when fire gutted four apartments.

In November six fires broke out simultaneously in six locations around the area. Card-board boxes doused with paint thinner were found inside several buildings after the fire, investigators said.

The latest fire alarm was sounded at 9:40 p.m. when a passerby reported smoke and flames shooting out of a three-story apartment building on Edgewood Court.

Because of the nature of the blaze and the location, officials called for a second alarm at 10:06 p.m.

At 10:16 p.m. another fire was reported raging out of control on Peoria Street—about a block away.

All available firemen and equipment were ordered to the scene and the neighboring city of Brisbane was requested to "cover" the Bayshore District of the city for the duration of the fire, an official said.

Battalion chief Mel Hanson was taken to Mary's Help Hospital with severe lacerations of the left hand, and two other firemen were overcome by smoke inhalation during the fire.

Fire officials reported "rubberneckers" choked off traffic lanes and hampered operations at the Peoria Street blaze.

At the height of the blaze, which completely destroyed two buildings on Peoria and heavily damaged two apartments on Edgewood Court, some 40 firemen and ten pieces of equipment were in action battling the stubborn fire, an official reported.

Spring Clean-up Drive Launched

The Daly City Fire Department is asking homeowners to eliminate "all unnecessary" combustible materials from their property during the department's annual spring cleanup program.

Battalion Chief Frank M. Specht, chief of the Daly City Fire Prevention Bureau, announced that the Daly City Scavenger Company will open its dumps to all Daly City residents the firm services from May 1 through May 7.

"You will be able to dump all the rubbish you have around your home absolutely free," Specht pointed out.

The dumps will be open for this purpose from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily during the cleanup week.

"We feel this can be a big step forward in making your home fire-safe," Specht emphasized.

Specht noted that the firemen called on 1,769 homes during the first five days of their cleanup campaign... and, he said, "most homes were found to be in good shape."

Most problems the firemen have considered to be fire hazards have been found in basements of the homes; such items as rubbish, flammable liquids improperly stored, and old newspapers.

Other safety factors have been pointed out to homeowners even though they are not classified as fire hazards, Specht said.

"We feel that most of the basement problems," Specht declared, "could be cleared up by the use of the free dumping."

D.C. Hearing Set For 'Design District' Plan

One of the first orders of business the Daly City Council undertook in its new multi-million dollar civic center Monday night was the matter of setting a date for public hearings on the proposed S-I Design Review Combining District.

It set the date as May 8.

The district, if established, would give the city planner power to approve or disapprove various designs of structures within the proposed district.

The intention of the new district, according to planners, is to "create, preserve and enhance areas of unusual civic significance requiring special design treatment and consideration of aesthetic and functional relationships to surrounding developments."

Coupled with the recently passed Commercial Office (C-O) district ordinance, the new law would give almost absolute control of what type buildings go where around the new civic center, and any other areas the city planners and council may elect to zone S-I.

For example, in C-2 (heavy commercial zone) the council and planners would have control over the design and related factors to insure "it shall be of a quality and character which harmonizes with, and serves to protect the value of, private and public investments in the area."

Once the city planner has approved a design he is required to forward his recommendation to the city council within three days. The council has 21 days to act on it.

If the city council fails to take action within the 21 days, the city planner's recommendation — either approval or disapproval — shall be the final decision, the ordinance points out.

The ordinance even covers with surrounding structures and has included its control under paragraph 14A.4 (1):

"That the proposed development shall serve to achieve a group of buildings or other facilities which will be related one to the other... with consideration given to site, height, arrangement, texture, material, color and appurtenances..."

Public hearing on the matter will be on May 8 at 8 p.m. in the council chambers, corner of Sullivan and Ninetieth streets, Daly City.

THE NEW SETTING — A brief ceremony precluded Monday night's initial meeting of the Daly City council in the new multi-million dollar civic center on Sullivan Avenue. Councilman, Edward Dennis recalled when the site was a barren lot 50 years before, and noted how the city was forging ahead for the benefit of all the people. Attending the meet-

"Our society is undergoing an intense assault by people who want some drastic changes, and our traditional law enforcement structure was never designed to cope with this type situation."

This basic conflict represents the greatest threat to law and order in our society and the principal challenge in the field of modern law enforcement, Berkeley Police Chief William P. Beall said Monday night.

Speaking at the second annual Peninsula Council of Lions Clubs Law Enforcement Awards Dinner in South San Francisco, Beall said the social discontent "wrought by a committed few dedicated to changing our system" is becoming an "almost impossible burden."

"For the past three years we have witnessed an attempt by certain political factions to bring things to a halt in Berkeley. They are trying to break the system, to stop the wheels from turning, and in some instances they have succeeded."

He said the march of 10,000 "activists" from Berkeley to Oakland in 1965 was an example of how "enough bodies can indeed have the effect of breaking down the process of law enforcement."

"The mass arrests at Sproul Hall in 1964 are another example," he said. "Most of those arrested are still fighting in the courts, and in all likelihood will be fighting for years to come."

Beall said current difficulties in law enforcement arise in part from traditional American political philosophy.

"The founding fathers had an innate fear and distrust of power," he said, "and the constitution was designed to diversify and divide police powers in order to assure control by the people."

"This was a good idea when the constitution was written, but the needs of local police organizations have changed. If we are to retain local autonomy of police power, there are going to have to be some basic changes in the system."

Beall said the Supreme Court ruling requiring police officers to "admonish" suspects in regard to their constitutional rights is a great hindrance to law enforcement.

"This has the effect of aiding the professional criminal, the shrewd character, but provides no benefit to the poor, unfortunate and uneducated person," he said.

"You must give law enforcement officers the tools to do their job. If we don't solve the problems of law enforcement in our society, then the society will fall, because there is nothing else to keep it from falling."

Skyline Bid Opening Set By State

Bids will be opened in Sacramento on May 3 for a contract to reconstruct Skyline Boulevard (State Route 35) from four-tenths of a mile north of Crystal Springs Road in San Bruno to just south of the intersection with State Route 1 in Daly City, a distance of about 3.6 miles.

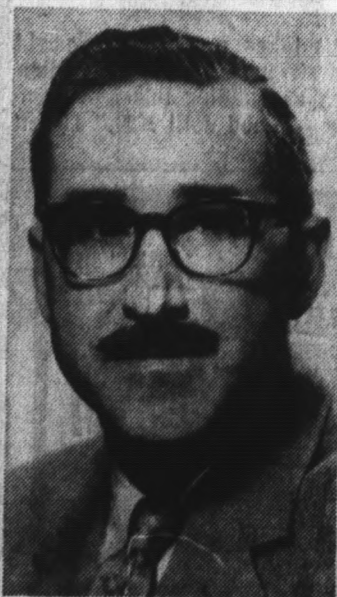

The two existing lanes will be widened to 12 feet with six-foot shoulders in this contract. Also included will be channelization at College Avenue in San Bruno and channelization with signals at the intersection of Hickey Boulevard in Pacifica, to facilitate safe turning movements.

Bruno Picks New Mayor

San Bruno attorney Maurice Hamilton was elected mayor by his fellow councilmen Monday night, and businessman George Ingham was named vice mayor.

Hamilton, replacing Karney Barberian as the head of the city's government, will serve a one-year term.

He has served on the city council since 1960, and served an earlier term as mayor in 1962-63.

Council in Daly City Joins North Against Highway Fund Shifts

The revised Mayo-Breed formula for dividing highway funds between the north and south, introduced to the 1967 legislature recently, may spark another "civil war," in the political forums.

The Daly City Council Monday night attacked the proposed revision which would, in effect, take away northern highway monies and give them to the southern part of the state.

In their resolution, the council unanimously agreed to join with other northern cities in protest of the revised formula.

The new 60 (south) 40 (north) split of State Highway money would reduce the available highway funds in this half of the state by more than $30 million a year "which would create intolerable delays to badly needed construction," the council pointed out in their resolution.

"Be it resolved . . . that there should be no revision of the Mayo-Breed formula which would change the basically equitable 55-45 apportionment . . . which has for many years permitted highways in all parts of the state to achieve a uniform state of development."

California is "one economic and political entity, not divided on an arbitrary geographical basis," the council said.

The council noted that past allocations of these state highway funds allowed development of highways in various sections of the state in a "generally uniform" manner.

Soroptimists Give $ To Programs

Soroptimist Club of Millbrae-San Bruno last week presented checks to recipients of the Club's efforts for service.

Peninsula Highway House of San Mateo, represented by Jim Wyman, resident manager, received $120 to renew the club's organizational membership. During the year the Highway House has been the recipient of a monthly food shower.

Foreign exchange programs at Mills and Capuchino high schools each received $50. Randy White, AFS student to Japan last year, and William Giang, funds chairman, participated from Mills. Don McCartney, AFS student to Argentina, represented Capuchino.

The Millbrae and San Bruno libraries each received $175 designated for records. Mayor Barney Barberian received the check for San Bruno and Homer Chandler, city manager of Millbrae, accepted for Millbrae.

Thursday's meeting of the Soroptimist Club will feature "Make Your Dollar Grow" projects of members. Money raised will be used for next year's service projects. Mrs. Chester Williams has chaired this project for the year.

Daly City Man Hurt in Blaze

Manuel Lopez, of 24 Westmont Drive, was rushed to Alameda Emergency Hospital for treatment of the burns, described as "not serious."

City Moves Into New Civic Center

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The new multi-million dollar Daly City Civic Center was once nothing more than a barren lot — 50 years ago — Councilman Edward Dennis recalled Monday during a brief ceremony precluding that night's regular council meeting.

"Most of you folks here tonight don't remember that. Eighty-five was a long time ago. The council hasn't always agreed on everything, but we've always been for the community," Dennis said.

He pointed out that the new civic center was "brought about by the hard work of the city's 'official family.'"

Councilman Michael de Bernardi said the people of Daly City "will be proud of this new civic center — a lot of hard work went into it."

He said, too, "I have lots of good memories of the old city hall. We have fought many a good battle there," De Bernardi recalled.

The youngest member of the city council, Tony Giammona, said, "This (civic center) puts Daly City on the map."

The new curved council bench allowed Councilman Frank Pacelli to "watch the reaction of my fellow councilmen at the meeting."

"It's a sad fact, however, that the late Joe Verducci won't be here to share this proud moment," Pacelli said.

Along with City Mgr. Edward Frank, Verducci was responsible "for pointing out the fact that we needed a new city hall," Pacelli commented.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett noted that long-time Daly City resident and Councilman Paul Hupf (now a municipal judge) was traveling in Europe and unable to attend the first meeting.

Hupf sent his regrets to the council on being unable to attend.

"It takes men with foresight and strength to make decisions such as building this new complex — good until 1990," Lycett said.

Damage to the home was estimated at some $12,000, while a nearby home at 20 Westmont Drive, owned by David J. Karp, experienced fire damage to the dining room area and smoke damage throughout the house, investigators said.

The loss to the Karp home was estimated at more than $1,500.

The fire broke out at 4:53 p.m. while Lopez was working on a car in the basement-garage of the residence.

Cause of the blaze which took ten firemen and three trucks almost an hour to extinguish, was still under investigation today.

However, a fire department official said the blaze apparently started in or near the car being worked on and quickly spread to the upstairs front bedroom.

Ryan Fights Bar Group For Judges

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-SSF) has succeeded in pushing his bill to create two new Superior Court judgeships for San Mateo County through the Assembly Committee on Judiciary (Monday, April 24). Ryan got committee approval despite opposition from the powerful Judicial Council of California, headed by California Supreme Court Chief Justice Roger Traynor.

Ryan, chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Subcommittee on Judiciary, said the bill now goes to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, in which he noted that both he and the Twenty-sixth District Assemblyman, Carl Britschgi, also of San Mateo County, are members.

"The bill made it through the important committee on judiciary," Ryan said, "but it still has to go to Ways and Means, to the Assembly floor and then to the Senate."

The Judicial Council, headed by Chief Justice Traynor, believes that San Mateo County doesn't need two new judgeships. A council study released last week reported that San Mateo County could get along with its present nine - judge seats, but did recommend one additional judgeship based on future needs of the county. Judge Traynor noted in the report that San Mateo County did not have as heavy a workload as San Bernardino or Contra Costa counties.

"Justice delayed is justice denied," Assemblyman Ryan said. "We have the smallest bench in the state for our size and the hardest working judges. The county is growing so quickly, we don't need one more Superior Court judge, but two, just to keep our heads above water and ferret out justice."

Use Permit Request Tabled in Daly City

The Daly City council Monday night tabled use permit request from the Gulf Oil Corporation and approved four others.

All of the requests were for Gulf Oil requested permission to erect two signs — one some 21-feet above the street at the corner of Junipero Serra Boulevard and Citrus Avenue. The sign would replace an older pole having three signs.

A higher sign (33-feet) would be installed in the middle of the property for the benefit of free-way traffic, the council was told.

Use permits were approved for:

Jesse James Used Cars — a non-illuminated non-moving double-faced sign with an overall height of 16-feet at 6660 Mission Street.

Wonderlite Neon Products to install a sign reading "Adams" above the existing "Buick" sign at 6888 Mission Street.

Ad-Art, Inc. to erect a double-faced, interiorly illuminated, non-flashing non-moving pole sign with an overall height of 28-feet and one single faced interiorly illuminated wall sign reading "London Fish 'n' Chips — Eat Here or Take Home" at 1999 Junipero Serra Blvd.

Daly City radiator to erect one double-faced non-flashing, non-moving, plastic projecting sign to be placed above existing sign at 7005 Mission Street.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Proof that practice makes perfect, or at least near-perfect, is the third edition of TIGER TALES magazine which came on the Terra Nova scene last Thursday and is on sale through this week.

Stories include an in-depth analysis of the TN Executive Board, a feature on woman's equality, and an improved news summary. TALES staffers plan an ambitious 36 pages for the next (and this year's last) issue — the senior edition.

On the journalistic beat, TIGER TALES staffers with advisor Le Pacini in tow (or vice versa) attended the journalism conference held at Crestmoor High School April 15. Journalism staffs from high schools in the area met to discuss common problems.

MEANWHILE, the staff awaits a Press Club luncheon for high school reporters to be held in San Francisco on May 15. Senior staffers Steve Wilson, Mike Thompson, and Margaret Benoit will compete for honors in sports, feature, and news writing, respectively.

The plot thickens: Mid-term grad and former TN journalistic giant Ray Baxter, ex-TIGER TALES editor-in-chief, has a problem. He has been accepted at both Stanford and Columbia with scholarship offers and must decide which university to attend in the fall (majoring in . . . journalism of course). This is a problem?

LAST NIGHT was inspection night at Terra Nova as parents and otherwise attended this year's second open house in honor of Public Schools Week.

MUSIC LOVERS flocked to the TN gym last Friday as the TN band, the Firehouse Fireflies Dixieland band, the chorus, a modern dance girls P.E. class, and various soloists performed at this year's annual Spring Concert.

Apartment Floor Fire In Bruno

A San Bruno apartment was damaged last Tuesday when a pillow caught fire from a wall heater.

A fire department spokesman said damage to the apartment at 472 San Anselmo totaled approximately $1,000.

The two occupants of the apartment, Franklin Bogosian and Jack Arikian, had been house cleaning, and left a sofa pillow against the heater. They left the apartment for a few minutes, and found the floor burning upon their return.

The fire burned through electric wiring beneath the floor, and power was interrupted in two other apartments in the building, firemen said. The blaze was extinguished with a fire extinguisher.

Passerby Saves 2 Boys

Back Draft Blast Rocks DC Home

A quick-thinking passerby moved two small boys away from a burning building in Daly City Thursday seconds before a "back draft" explosion blew flames and debris over the spot where they were standing.

Firemen said Tony Zidich, 131 South Mayfair, Daly City, carried Willie McNeil Jr., 7, and his smaller brother, Mark, 4, away from their burning home at 599 Evergreen Street.

The children had just escaped from the front of the house, and their father, Willie McNeil, climbed through a rear window before the explosion took place.

Windows were blown out of the house by the explosion, which firemen said is a "fairly common occurrence in extremely hot fires."

McNeil was asleep in a bedroom of the frame building when the children discovered the fire about 2 p.m. They awakened him, and he ordered them to leave through the front of the house as he dressed.

Firemen said the origin of the blaze, which caused approximately $4,500 damage to the dwelling, has not been determined.

DALY CITY FIREMEN battled flames in this wood frame dwelling on Evergreen Street more than two hours Thursday after a fire of undetermined origin gutted a hallway, bedroom and the front porch. Two small boys and their father were in the house when the fire started, and escaped seconds before a "back draft" explosion blew windows out of the building.

2 Hurt in Pickup Truck Mishaps

Two North County residents were hurt in traffic accidents Sunday.

Earl J. Slead, 36, 322 Altamont Drive, South San Francisco, was treated at Mary's Help Hospital for injuries sustained in a crash on Junipero Serra Freeway at 6:40 a.m. Slead told highway patrolmen he swerved to miss a pickup truck that cut in front of him and crashed into a guard railing. It was raining heavily.

Mrs. Rita Spencer, 45, 445 Angus Street, San Bruno, was injured at 5 p.m. in a freak accident on Fair Oaks Avenue near Menlo Park. Officers said Mrs. Spencer's daughter, Janice Magee, 19-year-old College of San Mateo student of 411 Briarwood Drive, South San Francisco, was backing a pickup truck out of a driveway when the door flew open and Mrs. Spencer fell out. She was taken to Sequoia Hospital for treatment of injuries to her right hip and arm.

In other accidents: Patrick G. White, 20-year-old University of San Francisco student of 138 West Bellevue Ave.

Terra Loma

Grand Opening

Once in a while, not very often, somebody does something different. Entirely new. Today it's happened. For Alpha Homes has just opened Terra Loma, a new development where every home has been specially designed and planned for the site. All kinds of new ideas: cathedral beamed ceilings, inside staircases, huge recreation rooms completely finished, ground floor living rooms extending on to patios... We've introduced another new idea too; individuality. The homes in Terra Loma don't all look alike. Each model, both inside and out, has its own distinctive character. Each with an original approach to living. They are the first really new houses to be built in the area in 20 years. One might go so far as to say that Terra Loma is the only new thing that's happening on the Peninsula. Sound like we're bragging? Maybe. Come on out and see for yourself.

3, 4 and 5 bedroom homes from $25,750. Minutes from downtown San Francisco. Continue on Skyline Blvd. (Hwy. 35) 1 1/2 miles south past the Pacifica (Hwy. 1) turnoff, then turn east (toward the Bay) on King Dr., Daly City, at the main entrance to Serramonte. Chamber Honors DC Students

Plaques Given For Achievement

The Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce went all out last week to honor eight students from Westmoor and Jefferson High schools at a dinner attended by some 100 parents, educators, local and county dignitaries.

Not only were the students honored with plaques denoting their individual achievements, but the youths' parents were praised for their "teamwork in keeping the ball rolling."

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett, guest speaker at the event, said, "The thought that passes through my mind is how these fine young people arrived where they are tonight — through team effort."

"It starts with a team effort by parents, before going on to the school district's Board of Trustees who establish policy. Next it goes on to the superintendent, the school administrators and, finally, to those unsung heroes, the teachers, who spend hour upon hour to impart their knowledge to you," Lycett said.

"But the ball game isn't over for you yet," Lycett cautioned. "If you learn real well, you will act real well, and you will undoubtedly live real well."

Included in the list of dignitaries attending the function at Joe's of Westlake restaurant were judges Frank Blum and F. de Larios, San Mateo County Supt. of Schools Dr. J. Russell Kent, Councilmen Ed Dennis, Anthony Giammona, and Frank Pacelli, Mrs. Leo Ryan and Colma Mayor W. H. Honeywell.

Elio Fontana, chairman of the event for the chamber, said it was "the most delightful affair that I have had the pleasure of chairing and proves once again there are many good, hardworking young people in our nation, having achieved their high scholastic standards through work and perseverance."

He said the chamber wants people to realize the honest and sincere desire students have in working towards their goals and that "these young people will one day fill the needs of our community and our nation."

Ernest Ribera, principal of Jefferson High School, introduced four students selected from his school:

Janet Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of 699 San Diego Avenue. Janet is the valedictorian of the Class of 1967 and is planning to attend the University of California, Berkeley, to major in chemical engineering or nuclear physics. She received the Chemistry Award from Jefferson High in her junior year and was also selected by the Social Studies Department to participate in National, Inc., Summer School.

Leila Reyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bienvenido C. Reyes of 12 Iwo Jima Road. Leila is salutatorian of the Class of 1967. She has been in the California Scholarship Federation every year, in the Model Senate and in the Girls' Athletic Association.

She has received many awards as a top typist and plans to attend the University of California, Berkeley, where she will decide on a major in either foreign languages or business administration.

Daniel Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee of 859 Templeton Street. Daniel has been named by the Science and Math Department as the outstanding senior. He was third ranking among 359 graduates and was named the outstanding student in physics during his junior year.

He is a semi-finalist in the California State Scholarship Program and has been active in the Medical Club, Spanish Club, and California Scholarship Federation as well as working part-time during his four years at Jefferson High.

Daniel plans to go to the College of San Mateo and then transfer to the University of California at Berkeley for his Bachelor of Science in premedical.

Gisa Ju, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sing Ju of 23 Partridge Lane, was chosen to attend the University of Kansas in 1966 for the National Science Foundation Program. She has been a member of the French Club and our model Senate.

Gisa was mentioned as the Mathematics Award winner for the Bank of America and plans to major in math at the University of California, Berkeley.

She has already been notified of Honors at Entrance.

Principal Glen South introduced four outstanding students selected from Westmoor High School: William Villalon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Villalon of 117 Bel Mar Avenue (an "A" student for four years); Muriel Friedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman of 82

Book Review Set for D.C.

The Friends of the Daly City Library will gather in the coral room of the Westlake Library on Southgate Ave. Thursday at 10 a.m. to hear a book review by Bernard Golumb.

The public is invited without charge.

A coffee hour is scheduled for 10 a.m. and will be followed by the review.

The reviewer, who is assistant librarian at Hayward Public Library, plans to comment on various of the currently popular books. Some of those that he feels register the preferences of today's readers are: Manches's "Death of a President," "The Passover Plot" by Hugh J. Schonfeld, and "Edgar Cayce — The Sleeping Prophet" by Jess Stearn.

Golumb intends to give his views on why these particular books enjoy the success they are experiencing.

He has been at Hayward for the last eleven years. Prior to that, he attended the School of Librarianship at the University of California.

Crystal Balling Science World

Washington seeress Jeanne Dixon to the contrary, it is becoming increasingly difficult in this age of science to make predictions. Even the science fiction writers seem hard pressed to project themselves far enough into the future to be interesting.

Thirty years ago or so, at a time when the most exotic spacecraft was the dirigible, it was a farfetched dream for dreamers to be talking of spaceships to the moon and ray guns which could penetrate almost any substance. Stories about such phenomena today will be found in scientific journals, and they describe objects of the present, not the future.

Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, spoke of tomorrow's computerized society in which all transactions will be conducted by credit cards with recording machinery linked directly to computers. The computers, in turn, will automatically deduct the amount of the purchase from the cardholder's account and transfer it to the store account.

Medical clinics are envisioned which could handle most routine patient complaints by computer reference to the patient's lifelong medical history and limitless sources of medical knowledge.

In the field of transportation, supersonic transports will cross the oceans at speeds of 2,000 mph, compared to the present 600 mph. Dialing time on long distance calls will be cut from 10 seconds to one.

But none of these improvements of the future is as dramatic as events in the last decade or two. And almost all are possible today with the information already at hand. All that remains is for the avalanche of our new technology pouring out of the science labs to be assimilated and translated into action.

It is walking on dangerous ground to say science has almost exhausted its possibilities. One recalls the congressman who introduced a measure shortly after the Civil War to abolish the patent office because surely by that time, he said, everything of importance already had been invented.

What could possibly follow a totally computerized society engaging in travel to the most distant planets? Don't worry, the next generation will think of something.

Shining Carousel

Barbara Bladen

Twenty-two years, you say. It can't be true. But it is. Oscar Hammerstein wrote "Carousel" 22 years ago and it first made history with John Raitt in the lead role.

Still the virile cad that began with "Liliom" and turned into Billy Bigelow, Raitt does the role as strongly and convincingly as he did years ago.

"Carousel," which opened at Circle Star Theater last night hasn't a rusty bolt in it. Strengthened by old-timers in their roles, the musical doesn't show any signs of age. Katherine Hilgenberg was on the stage with John Raitt singing Nettie Fowler back in 1945. And for all the times they've sung those roles, they must be heartened, as we were, by the brightness of David Tihmar's direction, Hall Shafer's designs and Zoya Leporska's choreography.

The melodious but sad story by Rodgers and Hammerstein, their second and favorite collaboration is as polished and well-tuned as a new church organ. And just as soul rending.

LINDA MICHELE HAS A SERENE but girlish charm which is complemented by Raitt's mature and assured portrayal. It's a role for an actor because of the double personality of Bigelow: Rebellion in place of patience and anger where gentleness would suffice. He's stubborn, irresponsible, enormously handsome and likeable as the merry-go-round barker who wants Julie's love but doesn't know how to accept it graciously or how to return it in kind. Miss Michele knows how to get "heart" into her songs.

Frustrated by lack of purpose and no money, he gets talked into robbing a merchant and when it backfires, he commits suicide. Its strong suit is its humaneness, backed by some of the loveliest music in musical stage repertoire.

The first act unhesitatingly reminds us that the story is sentimental and naive. The almost-forgotten tunes such as "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" and "If I Loved You" bring into focus the time when a good love story, interspersed with songs and dancing was all the audience wanted of a musical. They still want the same things and get it with excellent quality of talent in this current revival.

AMONG THE NICE THINGS that happen on stage are the return to the Peninsula of Robert Miller Driscoll as Enoch Snow (his solo is especially nice in "When the Children Are Asleep"); Miss Michele's tender "What's the Use of Wonderin'?" and Miss Hilgenberg's "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Linda Kaye Henning creates an earthy Louise for whom her dead father returns to earth and tells her about himself. She creates a special moment in her solo ballet.

Ned Romero isn't nearly sinister enough as Jigger, the bad influence by which Billy turns away from his duties as a husband and father-to-be. But the cast, from chorus to principals, is lively and robust.

The death scene was distinctly lacking in drama, even in melodrama. It just didn't work, what with bad timing, awkward staging and lighting which destroyed any possible mood. The show opens on such a well-organized and detailed amusement park setting, it's a shame that style can't be maintained throughout.

Amazing how well the show stands up. And equally amazing how many people, for all its many revivals, haven't seen it. Sixth time for me and it still shines like a new penny.

Headway on Route 186 Is Indicated

By DON GRIERSON

After years of discussion and preliminary planning, indications are that work on the proposed Route 186 Freeway between San Bruno and Pacifica will soon get underway, local backers of the project reported this week.

C. Trifeletti, chairman of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce Route 186 Committee, Pacifica Mayor Harland Minshaw and San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian said today they are "much more optimistic now than three months ago" about possibilities of speeding progress on the road.

An appropriation for the initial phase of work on a section of the freeway between Junipero Serra Boulevard and El Camino Real in San Bruno is included in the Division of Highways budget for the coming fiscal year.

"We are fairly confident now that funds for most or all the remainder of the project will be included in the 1968-69 budget," Barberian said.

The freeway has been given "top priority" by the Division of Highways, and plans to extend the road beyond Bayshore Freeway to the San Francisco International Airport were announced last month.

Plans for Route 186 were approved in 1962, and the originally projected completion date was "between 1972 and 1975." Officials feel now there is a chance of completing the project "at least two years ahead of the original schedule" because of the new priority granted by the Division of Highways.

Trifeletti, Minshaw and Barberian, along with numerous other city and county officials, have petitioned the State Legislature "on an almost daily basis" during the past few months for aid in speeding the project.

Senator Randolph Collier, chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee, visited the area last month and inspected the proposed freeway route.

Though the new route will not be a "cure-all" for problems of the area, officials in both Pacifica and San Bruno believe it will represent an economic boon more than commensurate with the estimated $28-million cost of the project and contribute greatly to the convenience and safety of motorists.

Pacifica, with no adequate east-west access route, probably stands to gain most from the freeway, but advantages for San Bruno and the entire North Peninsula area are considerable.

Hickey Boulevard, Sharp Park Road and Manor Drive, the only three present east-west roads between Pacifica and the Bayshore Freeway-International Airport area, are all winding, indirect routes.

"This lack of access to the Peninsula's main transportation arteries is drastically inhibiting the industrial and commercial development of the city," Chamber of Commerce Manager Bernard Lake said, "and represents a great inconvenience to the 4,000 airport employees who live in Pacifica."

Pacifica businessmen also feel direct access to the beaches from the airport will enhance the city's potential as a recreation area.

Other expected benefits include lower freight rates, faster and more efficient mail service and a reduction in the traffic accident rate, especially on the treacherous Sharp Park Road.

San Bruno has long needed an overpass across the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks through the center of the city, and Route 186 is expected to provide this and also to relieve rush hour traffic on crowded San Bruno Avenue.

Like Pacifica, San Bruno lacks a direct east-west route, and access to the airport is difficult during rush hours because of congestion on Bayshore Freeway.

Route 186 will also partially alleviate heavy truck traffic on the city's streets, a problem which has plagued San Bruno officials for several years.

Trifeletti, Barberian and Minshaw have attended a meeting of the State Highway Commission in San Jose today in an attempt to persuade commissioners to visit the area and examine the proposed freeway route "first hand." They got the "tour."

Doorbell Ringing For The American Cancer Assn.

Doorbell-ringing marchers for the American Cancer Society are conducting their annual "Tell your Neighbor" house-to-house Cancer Crusade.

Mrs. James Ocampo, president of the Society's Daly City Unit urged local householders to preserve the list of warning signals as a protection against cancer.

"No one can tell where or when cancer will strike next," she said, "but we do know that the chances of overcoming it are best when it is detected and treated early."

"The volunteer worker who will come to your door is on a life-saving mission, so read carefully the literature that he or she hands you. It could affect your future, or the future of someone you love."

Mrs. Ocampo said the door-to-door Crusaders also will collect contributions for support of the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service to cancer patients. This year the Society has $2,308,140 invested in research projects in California alone, and nearly $16,000,000 from coast to coast.

The house-to-house "Tell your Neighbor" Cancer Crusade will continue here for the next three weeks.

Assisting Yvonne Pack, chairman of the "Youth Against Cancer" are the following team captains: Denise Shultz, Michael Firtch, Edie Long, Jeannine Kite, Alice Gee, Rosalyn Pack, Veronica Pack, Cindy Urbanus, Natalie Abram, Dick Thill and Nickie Wiensek.

Daly City Provides Activity For Teenagers of the Area

A recent joint dance, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, held at the Franklin Delano Roosevelt school with the Telstars was reported a success, with an attendance of over 100 persons.

The evening was highlighted by the "Underground Exit" providing the music.

The Roof Raisers this Sunday will team up with the Telstars for an all day trip to Angel Island State Park. The day will feature scavenger hunts, games, hiking and relays. The bus will leave Westmoor Park Clubhouse at 9:15 a.m. and will return by 5 p.m.

The Know Names Junior

Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation, held a "beach-in" April 14 at the Westlake Park Clubhouse, instead of the scheduled Beach Party, because of rainy weather.

A sand-pit fire kept the Know Names warm and the rain didn't seem to hinder their appetites while they roasted about 200 hot dogs and drank 6 cases of soda pop.

The local Psychedelic Web Band then vibrated the "beach-in" to a 2 hour dance spree and records were awarded to the outstanding dancers.

The next Know Names function will be the Sock Hop on April 28th and at this dance the new council members will be introduced.

The Daly City Recreation Department sponsored its first Square and Round Dance last Sunday at the War Memorial Community Center.

Over 250 dancers from clubs throughout Northern California attended the party planned by Al and Emma Buoncristiani and Mc'd by Don Black. Credit for the big-crowd may be given to the guest callers who donated their time and talents for the day.

The callers were Don Shottwell, Bill Castner, Jim Wylie, Chick Burgess, Jack McKay, Howard Hillyer and Bud Williams.

YOU HEARD IT FIRST — Asst. Dist. Atty. Lois Scampini will announce her retirement from public office effective May 15. After more than seven years with the DA's office she intends to join Goth, Dennis and Aaron, a private law office in Redwood City.

FIREMEN WERE SOAKED to the skin at a recent house fire in Daly City. Seems someone turned on the lawn sprinkler system and the firemen had to trudge through it to get to the blaze.

WESTMOOR HIGH SCHOOL Principal Glenn South, at last week's Outstanding Students' Award night dinner at Joe's of Westlake Restaurant appeared a bit shaken. "I have a right to be. This afternoon I spent considerable time talking to three young 'hippies' on the school grounds who insisted on passing out some of their psychedelic material to students. After that distasteful experience, it certainly is a pleasure to be here honoring these eight young students who have displayed exceptional academic achievement during their school terms."

AND SPEAKING OF STUDENTS — Colma Intermediate School has revealed that 29 eighth grade students made the A Honor Roll and 61 made the B Honor Roll. Whatever happened to OUR kind of kids — all brawn and no homework.

GEORGE E. ALPHIN, of the Daly City Water Engineering Alphas, has been selected by the Institute for Research in Childhood Health and Education (phew) to serve as a faculty member at a series of seminars on fluoridation. (He's for fluoridation.) The Institute is sponsored by the California Medical Association, California Dental Association and the United States Public Health Service.

Alph's job? Explain the functional, economic and engineering aspects of fluoridation as seen by the water purveyor — naturally.

THE JESD is now planning some improvements along Moltke Street to provide better entry into the Kennedy School grounds. Last week, a study session of the Daly City Council was shown just how a small piece of land owned by this party would be swapped with that piece of land owned by that party, if this person would swap that piece of land with whatshisname. And they were informed it's all very legal.

A LETTER FROM Elio Fontana, Peter Markovich, Alfred Belotz and Edward Morgan is making the rounds. It's in support of a worthwhile cause: The John Morgan Scholarship Fund. The fund is trying to raise $10,000 in order to provide deserving students an opportunity to obtain an education and/or training beyond high school. The foursome's letter points out that if the goal is achieved the fund will become perpetual.

SANDBAGGERS ANONYMOUS — The last time the city had a golf tournament at Cypress Hills, you-know-who won the prizes. That's right, he was a guest and it would be embarrassing to the person who invited him to leak out the sandbagger's name. Well, to make a long story longer, the city is having ANOTHER golf tournament at Cypress on May 13 and THAT GUY is playing again. How do we know? Because he keeps telling everyone he meets that his game is way off. (Not true, not true.) Michael D. Corso, D.C. city recreation supervisor is handling the matter.

OUR WEATHER EYE informs us it has rained every day for five weeks. Pardon me, while I order a boat (about 100 cubits long will do and enough animal feed for . . .).

The Book Shelf

Parlor Game More Fun Than Chimps

Samuel Chandler

HERE IS A PARLOR GAME that has proved more fun than the proverbial barrel of monkeys. Give each person a sheet of paper and a pencil and tell him to list six books he would take with him on a desert island. If you lack the paper and pencils let each person tell the titles aloud. You'll be surprised at the results.

In every crowd there is some practical person who lists such items as a book of first aid, or a doctor book. The all time first aid best seller is "First Aid Textbook," of the American National Red Cross. It is a small book with pages of colored illustrations. It deals with simple anatomical structure, common injuries, kinds of dressings and bandages, and lay treatment of emergencies.

The grand old "doctor book" that I would choose is "Modern Home Medical Adviser" by Dr. Morris Fishbein. Although the chapters on the choice of a physician may not be useful on a desert island, the rest of the book would be invaluable. It covers the whole field of home medicine from first aid to heart disease.

Another item that practical persons list among their six books is a book on carpentry or cabin construction and a book on crafts.

One lady listed among her choices a book on personal psychology. "If I'm going to be out there alone I'll have to know myself inside and out," she said.

If you play this game you'll find that the bible is not always listed but usually. Other books of religion are seldom mentioned. However, I met a man who claimed he would take six books recommended by the leaders of his denomination because he considered his salvation the most important thing in his life.

It has surprised me to learn how many college girls place an anthology of children's literature on their lists.

One man, I know listed an edition of "Elements of Radio" by Abraham Marcus. "If I were on a desert island," he said, "And I could make a radio I wouldn't be there very long."

Among the titles that I have noticed on many lists are Stevenson's "Home Book of Quotations," Will Durant's "Story of Philosophy," John Dalton Morrison's anthology or religious verse, Shakespeare's complete works, Darwin's "Origin of Species," and a book of Greek plays. Nearly everyone puts down a book of poetry — even people who never read poetry.

Modern novels are listed more than classics; mysteries more than science fiction. A good history is on nearly everyone's list. Drama shows up all the time. Foreign authors are mentioned as often as American authors.

While no one has ever listed a dictionary, many list a good one volume encyclopedia. Among the most popular are The Lincoln Encyclopedia; but alas, it is being printed in two volumes now, and The Columbia Encyclopedia has grown to five.

Better Business

Today's Owner An Easy Victim

Lorene Beasley

YEARS AGO THE HOUSEWIFE had a set schedule for spring and fall housecleaning. The same desire for seasonal cleaning and renovating makes today's homeowner an easy victim of the fly-by-night home improvement swindler.

The heavy rains have delayed the "Terrible Williamsons" but they will be here. For 60 years they have been the slickest, most successful clan of all itinerant repairmen, roofing gyps and driveway "specialists," cheating homeowners out of thousands of dollars.

Every spring the numerous black, sticky driveways are mute evidence that the Williamsons had another profitable visit to San Mateo County in spite of the many warnings issued by the Better Business Bureau concerning these gypsies. So again, beware when a man comes to your door and tells you "he noticed that your roof or driveway needed fixing and can give you a special price for the job because he is working in the neighborhood."

Before contracting to have your house painted, be sure to examine the references of your prospective paint contractor. The bureau receives daily complaints concerning itinerant painters who misuse the names of well-known brand paint companies. These paint gypsies, noted for extravagant claims at low prices, use the old pattern of telling the homeowner his house will be painted for labor costs only, that the paint company furnishes the paint gratis for demonstration purposes.

THEY QUOTE A LOW PRICE, which too often fails to materialize in a finished job, but when the work is completed, render a bill for much more than the quoted price. One homeowner was quoted a figure of $30 for a paint job but received a bill for $300.

According to paint specialists, there isn't such a thing as a new plastic paint that will outwear all other paints.

Open House Is April 28

Capuchino High School's Open House Night will be on Friday, April 28, from 7 to 8 p.m. Interested parents and friends are invited to attend.

Annually, all public schools of the San Mateo County School District give parents a chance to visit with teachers, observe various class activities and projects, or watch special presentations by a few of the department one evening during Public Schools Week.

This year a special attraction, a Student P-TA Faculty Variety Show will be staged in the Cap Auditorium following the Open House. The purpose of the show will be to raise money for Cap scholarships. Tickets for this show are priced moderately. Tickets may be obtained at Capuchino High School or from Mrs. Fred Lombardi.

Teeners Hurt Gravely In Coast Crash

Two San Francisco teen-agers were injured, one gravely, Wednesday in an auto crash on Edgemar Freeway near Pacifica.

Highway patrolmen said Melvin Frank Sonntag, 19, was driving northbound at 9:30 through heavy rain when his sedan slid out of control and crashed head-on into the guard railing in the center divider. It was not determined what caused the car to go out of control.

Sonntag and his passenger, Theresa Blomquist, 15, were taken by ambulance to Mary's Help Hospital. The girl was admitted to the intensive care unit and was listed in critical condition while Sonntag was transferred to San Francisco General Hospital after treatment of a broken ankle and head injury.

Countywide Paint Brush Mark Start

Paint brushes wielded by high school students throughout San Mateo County will signal the beginning of the first "Huckleberry Finn Contest" staged on the San Mateo County Fairgrounds, May 15-28.

The contest, sponsored by the San Mateo County Fair, is seeking the best fence mural artists in the Bay Area.

Participating students will be assigned sections of blank wall on the County Fairgrounds and will be invited to paint murals which interpret the "Designs for Living" theme of the 1967 Fair and Floral Fiesta.

Airport Asks Bids For Cargo Facility

A new step to meet demands of the mushrooming air cargo volume at San Francisco International Airport was taken last Thursday.

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission authorized a call for bids to construct an air cargo building comprising 60,000 square feet of space for cargo processing with an additional 11,400 square feet for office space.

This new cargo facility will be leased to American Airlines as a major step in the expansion of its cargo development program.

S.S.F. Woman Hurt in Crash

A South San Francisco woman was injured last Tuesday, when she lost control of her automobile and struck a utility pole on El Camino Real, police reported.

Eva Klarenbach, operator of Eva's Beauty Salon, was treated for lacerations at Peninsula Hospital and later released after her vehicle struck the pole in the 700 block of El Camino Real about 11:20 p.m.

Officers said she had just pulled out of a parking lot when the wreck occurred, and apparently lost control of the car on wet pavement.

Estimated cost of the project is in excess of $1,000,000.

In recommending Commission action, Airport General Manager George F. Hansen said the project will provide American Airlines with an interim air cargo facility pending development of a permanent air cargo center under provisions of the Master Plan to be financed by the $96 million Airport Bond Issue proposed for the November ballot.

"We simply cannot delay the development of additional air cargo areas until next year, after the bond vote," Hansen declared. "Air cargo volume has tripled in the last five years, and we anticipate a similar gain by 1972, just five years ahead."

"This expansion is being financed in part by available Airport Department funds," he added, "with the balance representing a capital investment by American Airlines."

2 Injured In Accident

Two women were injured Wednesday afternoon in an automobile accident at the intersection of Westborough Boulevard and Galway Drive in South San Francisco, police reported.

Lois Orent, of San Bruno, and Joyce Edberg, San Francisco, were treated for lacerations at Mary's Help Hospital and later released.

Officers said the wreck occurred about 1 p.m.

Power Cut As Pole Falls

Electric power to 1,000 residences in the Rollingwood area of San Bruno was interrupted early Sunday morning when a utility pole on Sneath Lane broke and fell in high winds and rain.

A Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spokesman said power throughout the area was off from 1:50 a.m. until 2:36 a.m.

Kite Season Is Honored

Le Pacini

(In keeping with our tradition of an annual column honoring kite season, we offer herewith a fictionalized account of a story based on fact but sprinkled liberally with literary license.)

THE TETRAHEDRAL

Robert Benjamin fought his way to school three mornings out of five. On the remaining two, he outran his opponents. After school he joined his opponents in confiscating the next day's lunch at corner grocery stores. After dinner he strolled Mission Street removing other people's hub caps. At retirement time, as his mother called it, he captured bed bugs to present anonymously to his teachers the next morning... climaxed lecturians, said his science teacher, one of the recipients.

That was Robert Benjamin's life until Mr. Tucker, the art teacher, introduced his Kite construction Unit. Amid a colorful rubble of paper, wooden slats and cloth, Mr. Tucker routinely took the first three days of the school week to explain the various types of kites, their construction and flight peculiarities. But his routine delivery dropped when he reached, on the third day, the tetrahedral kite.

"This kite," and his eyes glistened in unison and in direct proportion with those of Robert Benjamin, "is the greatest kite design ever devised. Samuel F. B. Morse once built one six feet high and sent a man up in it."

Ignoring pleas to explain just who Samuel F. B. Morse was (he felt it would be of no value to their thirst for miscellaneous knowledge to tell them he invented the Morse Code, since the only code they knew was keep your mouth shut), Mr. Tucker pressed on to tell them about the time — as a younger man — he had built one six feet high, using two building bricks for a tail, and how he had needed a wench mounted on a jeep to pull it in.

"The only drawback to the tetrahedral," he ended his lecture on a note of solemnity, "is that if you ever allow its tail to fly up suddenly — and it's difficult not to — it will nose over and go into a power dive that will be impossible to stop."

The last two days of the week were spent drawing plans for the various kites, and as Mr. Tucker had suspected, the Kite Unit had gone over well.

Robert Benjamin, who prior to the Kite Unit had not attempted to make even a flowered breadboard, was Mr. Tucker's almost constant conferee during the week of actual construction, and the only boy in the room (almost all the rest had decided on the more colorful and exotic Oriental types) who had chosen to make a tetrahedral.

Robert asked questions on technical construction which Mr. Tucker had never thought him capable of asking. His over-all behavior in art and all other classes improved, and when flight day came he sent a perfect red, two-foot tetrahedral into space from the school yard launch site which was so impressive that the principal, Mr. Corona, excused him from two classes so that he could keep it up until nightfall, as Robert had frantically requested.

"Good job, Howard," Mr. Corona said to Mr. Tucker. "I've seldom seen a class at this school reverse behavior so rapidly over interest in a classroom project. Especially Robert Benjamin."

Soon, however, things were back to normal. Mr. Tucker was chewing his antacid tablets while the class worked on more mundane projects like hand-painted highball coasters and multi-colored braided pocket watch chains like the Navajo's make.

Only Robert Benjamin failed to revert. He not only started doing his regular projects, but continued quizzing Mr. Tucker on the theory of flight in general and kite construction in particular — especially tetrahedrals.

Mr. Tucker, sensing that Robert Benjamin's intellectual enlightenment was perhaps on the threshold of breakthrough, even held after school discussions with the budding Sikorsky.

The carryover on Robert's over-all behavior was tremendous, discovered Mr. Tucker during lunchroom chatter. Robert hadn't been kicked out of class — even spoken harshly to — in weeks, and had shown so much interest in creating, that other shop and art teachers had doled out scraps of material to him for projects which he reportedly had in progress at home. Though always vague about exactly what his projects were, he had never asked for too much too often from any one teacher, and so they were glad to donate the otherwise useless scraps of two-by-fours and canvas and rope and heavy bolts to what they thought was one of those rare rehabilitations.

What Robert was working on, however, wasn't his rehabilitation, not unless one could classify something akin to the Manhattan Project, both in diabolical secrecy and destructive results, as reconstructive.

Robert's school-subsidized project, however, did keep him off the streets.

It's never been accurately determined, but Robert's basement project was of such scope that it required THREE building bricks to act as a stabilizing tail. Not to mention that nylon climber's rope missing from the local sports shop.

Launch day was the day Robert finished his super-tetrahedral kite. Time was dusk, as is traditional in that type of pseudo-legitimate operation.

Mr. Tucker got the details from others (Robert was absent that day) the day after the launch, and although second-hand and undoubtedly garnished, Mr. Tucker could tell from the afternoon papers that what he had been told was, essentially, the truth.

Robert had gotten a friend of his with a pickup truck of unknown origin to mount him on the back of the truck, and interested two of the larger boys in the neighborhood (appealing to their quest for immortality) to hold him by the legs when the kite became airborne.

Once the Tetrahedral was in the air (a throng of admirers and wellwishers lining the sidewalk from where the launch emanated), Robert played it out in the gentle breeze to the full extent of the 2,000-foot rope, and it seemed to stretch across the city.

And then the third brick struggled loose, and tumbled through the roof of a police car cruising Mission Street.

At the point where the brick worked loose, the boy in the unidentified pickup took off, the big boys holding Robert's legs took off, and Robert took off, playing himself out into the gentle breeze.

He managed to drop off as he passed a certain super market with which, unknown to the management, he had done considerable business and from its roof watched the tetrahedral go into its inevitable power dive, which culminated when it sheared through a schoolyard handball court.

The incident caused Mr. Tucker to re-evaluate his Kite Unit.

Verity Seeks To Establish MPL Records

Capuchino High School's Peter Verity is hoping that he is able to perform as well in next Friday's Mid-Peninsula League swim championships as he did in last week's final MPL dual meet.

The Mustang swimmer paced his team to a 61-25 victory over Mills in the winner's pool to close out Cap's 1967 dual meet campaign with a 4-2 MPL mark. Verity's double victories were both new unofficial MPL standards. The only way a record in the conference becomes official is by establishing it in the MPL Finals, which will be held at Aragon next Friday.

In yesterday's meet, Verity traversed the 200 free in an excellent 1:56.3 seconds and then came back to win the 400 free with a 4:15.0 effort.

Mills' Dave Guadagni turned in a brilliant performance in annexing the 100 butterfly, recording a good 58.6 time.

League Commissionship A 'Thankless' Position

By JOHN HORGAN

ONE OF the most thankless jobs in all of sports — high school included — is that of the commissioner, the man who must make key decisions at the league level on matters of arbitration that affect teams in his circuit.

By definition, the job involves controversy and problems. The league commissioner, then, has a key post which should reside in the hands of a strong and fair individual.

This is the type of man which is being sought by the seven principals of the North Peninsula League, a league which has had its share of problems and controversy through its five years of existence.

During the first year, Paul Hannig, commissioner of the South Peninsula Athletic League and the Mid-Peninsula League (formed at the same time as the NPL), offered to act as interim commissioner. After that initial year (during which the league suffered more than its share of turmoil and confusion) the league settled on Owen Kashevaroff as its boss. And now the genial Kashevaroff has called it quits.

OWEN SAID that after four years of working with the league the job has simply gotten to be too much. Pressures growing from his teaching assignments at El Camino High School, from his own outside activities and from his family prompted him to resign the commissioner's post, effective at the end of the current school year.

He explained that his wife has been ill for "about three or four years" and that recent surgery has made it imperative that he spend more time at home with his family.

Appointed to the position four years ago while still a teacher at a South San Francisco junior high school, Kashevaroff has been deeply involved in the league's growth and progress. He was the circuit's chieftain during its most important decision-making year, 1965, when it was determined by the board of principals and the coaches to allow little Half Moon Bay into the loop.

As Owen said recently, "The league is getting better all the time. The school populations are beginning to even out now. I think baseball this year is a good example of how balance is becoming more a part of the league. More schools ought to begin to win titles now."

Kashevaroff emphasized that the new commissioner does not necessarily have to come from the ranks of present NPL coaches, teachers or administrators. In fact, word from the grapevine in the league has it that rival schools are glad to see Owen step down because of his affiliation with El Camino. Not that anything untoward has occurred due to his employ with El Camino, the fact is that some of the coaches would simply rather not have one of their own doing the final decision work on the league level.

Oceana principal Bob Watt is in charge of the committee which is searching for the new man. Kashevaroff said the group would probably not make a decision on the post until some time during the summer.

South SF's Warriors Not In Action Until Tuesday

South San Francisco hopes that the North Peninsula League baseball action is still around when the Warriors get back to playing in it.

Coach Bob Brian's crew defeated Oceana, 5-1, Thursday afternoon, and then hung up the spikes for a week and one-half. The Warriors don't get back into the NPL wars until next Tuesday.

"The way the scheduling worked out, we don't have a game until then and we can't play any of our league make-ups because none of the other five teams have open dates next week," Brian stated.

In Thursday's victory over Oceana, blonde Larry Alsterlind, the talented all-around sports star from the Industrial City, scattered four scratch hits in leading South SF to its third NPL win in four outings. Alsterlind struckout eight batters enroute to his victory.

Lou Lodgiani provided the big stick at the plate for the Warriors, driving in two runs with a single in the bottom of the third inning.

The San Mateo High School tennis team kept its Mid-Peninsula League record unblemished by sweeping to an easy 7-0 victory over Capuchino on the winner's courts last week.

Dave LeBaron, the Bearcats' number-one man, vanquished Cap's Bill Schneider in the top singles match of the day, 6-1, 6-1. The Bortolazzo brothers,

Paul and Jerry, also won their matches.

San Mateo is now 2-0 in the MPL.

CASC Elects Pacifians To Offices

By MARIA MONTENEGRO
Two Pacifica students were elected officers for the coming year at the California Association of Student Councils District 7-A Conference held at Palo Alto's Cubberly High School on April 9.

Tom Jones, an Oceana junior, and Terra Nova junior Charles Porter were elected CASC District 7-A vice president and treasurer, respectively. Both serve on the student body Executive Board of their respective school — Porter as treasurer and Jones as vice president. Pearl Tom of Cubberly High was elected president.

The elections and installation of new officers was the final activity of the Conference which was attended by 250 student leaders representing 17 Peninsula high schools.

After a registration period from 2:30-3 p.m., participants met in an hour-long general assembly. This year's CASC 7-A president Kirk Schumacher of Cubberly, who also headed the organization and preparation for the Conference, presided.

Cubberly's Rod Jew and Carlmont's Margot Robb, 7-A delegates to the second California Student Advisory Board, reported on a recent 3-day Board conference in Los Angeles. The first student group in the nation to meet with a State Board of Education, the Advisory Board presented five recommendations to State Superintendent of Schools Max Rafferty. These called for elective courses on world religions; expansion of the vocational education program; teacher committees to submit recommendations for materials made available to the schools; experimentation in high school scheduling geared to follow a college-style system; and health classes which would cover different aspects of tobacco, alcohol, drugs, and sex to become a mandatory part of the Physical Education program.

Guest speaker Robert Funk, Assistant Dean of Education at Stanford captured the underlying theme of the conference in his speech.

Funk claimed that it is a "lost cause" to keep students on the high school level out of decision-making — "High school students do have some hope in decision-making in the schools and they do have some potential for serving in an advisory capacity. But, he went, "you must temper this privilege with responsibility."

"I encourage you to think, to look, for possibilities in how to influence your education . . . I urge as many of you that can be rational, critical, and hardworking to start taking part in decision-making, not just what color the decorations for a dance should be." He added, "Some activists around make life a little interesting."

Following the assembly, participants attended two, hour-long discussion workshops, each dealing with a discussion involving today's youth. The ten topics, current and controversial as a whole, were: The Draft and Vietnam — The Teenage Image in the Community-T.V. and Its Influence-Student Protests-Drop-outs-Civil Rights-Student Honor Code, Morals, Drinking, and Drugs-Voting at Age 18-Teenage Responsibility in Driving-Teenage Social Life and Dating. The average discussion, which was lively more often than not, numbered 25 participants.

County Test Of Defense

The San Mateo Operational Area Civil Defense and Disaster Organization has scheduled the regular quarterly county wide test of outdoor warning devices for 11 a.m. April 28.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, Area Civil Defense Co-ordinator, announced that the test will consist of a one-minute of silence followed by a minute if rising and falling wail or series of short blasts.

As in the past the wail continues to mean that an enemy attack against the country has been detected.

Under actual emergency conditions protective action should be taken immediately.

However, Supervisor Fitzgerald emphasized that the steady blast is no longer an attack warning indicator.

It now means "attention" — turn on your radio or otherwise appraise yourself of the emergency situation that exists. Both signals would be blown for from three to five minutes and repeated as necessary in actual disaster situations.

Musical Fantasy Is Slated for Westmoor

Presenting the annual Spring Concert on April 28 will be the Music Department in a "Musical Fantasy" will take place in the boys' gym at 8:00 p.m.

This is the third year the Spring Concert has featured the Academy Award winning song of the year.

"Born Free" which was chosen for Westmoor's program even before winning an Oscar, will be sung by the girls' chorus who will also perform "On a Clear Day."

In addition to being student stage band director, Jim will also be a featured soloist of the evening, on both piano and trombone.

The Music Department has rented a grand piano for Jim, who played formerly with the Lansing, Michigan Symphony Orchestra. Two pieces, a sonata by Clementi, and Malaguena by Lecounta will be included in Jim's solo, "Trombonanza" is Marvin Schneider, Chairman of the Portola District Boy Scouts, announced that a Cub Leader's Training Course will start May 1 for four consecutive weeks, at Vallemar School at 8 p.m.

Israel Visit For Rabbi, Mrs. Shore

Rabbi and Mrs. Solomon A. Shore will take a European vacation in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary, and after ten years' service at Congregation B'nai Israel.

Mrs. Shore said the trip "is a fulfillment of a dream" for the Shore family to visit the Holy Land, where they will spend about seven weeks.

Their journey will take them to most of the Biblical sites, she said.

They will tour several other countries after visiting Israel.

During Rabbi Shore's absence, Cantor Jeno Friedmann will officiate at Congregation B'nai Israel services.

In addition, several guest rabbis of the San Francisco area will be guest speakers at Friday evening rites.

Westmoor Speakers Advanced

Westmoor High School was recently the host for over 300-Bay Area students who were competing in the State Qualifying Finals of the Golden Gate Speech Association.

The competition is divided into ten categories and those contestants who place in the first five placed in each category go on to the State Finals at Santa Barbara May 5 and 6.

Of the eight speakers Westmoor entered, two qualified to go on to State Finals. Seniors Pat Brennan and Don Zimmerman placed second and third respectively in their categories.

Pat, who placed in the State Finals last year, placed in original oratory, through a speech titled "Walls." It tells of a small boy's questioning of walls built around cities to keep people in.

Don's field is Boys' Impromptu. Impromptu is said to be one of the most difficult categories because the competition has no idea of his topic until two minutes before he must speak. At that time the speaker must talk for five minutes. The contestants know only that the topics will be in three specific areas — abstract words, famous quotations and current events.

Although Pat has had considerable background in speech contest work since she has been active in that field for four years, Don is a relative newcomer. Three weeks ago he went to St. Mary's and participated the first time, gained second place.

Miss Mary Ann Holden, speech coach at Westmoor, impressed by this showing, entered him in that category in the State event. Because of the limitation of time and energy, Miss Holden concentrated on training after school for a small number of students.

Other schools such as Lowell and San Ramon who entered 40 and 38 students respectively, have two — three speech coaches. Lowell placed eight of its 40 in the state finals while San Ramon placed seven.

Westmoor has been the host school of the Golden Gate Speech Association for State Qualifying Tournament before in 1961 and 1963.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

SOME FURNITURE PEOPLE BRING US SOME MORE THOUGHT

You may remember a few weeks ago we brought you some of the things furniture people are talking about these days at the furniture shows.

And there are a few more interesting observations that we didn't have space for that week, so we'll bring them to you now:

When a customer buys a new mattress and says they are going to use their old box spring, one dealer says, "You wouldn't build a new house on an old foundation, would you?" This is a good thought.

You hear more and more about "chairs in pairs" not only as an attractive decorating idea but as serving a useful purpose as well. Where one bedroom chair was thought of as being sufficient many people are now using two smaller chairs instead. The same idea is being used in the living room, den and family room.

And one furniture man brought up this observation: Furniture has a more important influence on our lives than most people realize. It is part of the very environment and atmosphere in which we and our children grow up.

Incidentally, we at our store have a wonderful new selection of furniture, and we'd like to show it to you. Of course there's no obligation, and we hope you'll come in soon.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience or call PL 6-7500.

Final Touch For Festival

Louanne Heath

BEN ALBRECHT, general chairman of Blossom Time, the Our Lady of Mercy Spring Festival, will be spending this evening making sure that all the final touches are applied to "his baby" before it begins its four-day run tomorrow at 1 p.m. under the direction of floor managers Mrs. Phillip Glebow and Edward Avanzino.

Ed Cuevas of the Men's Club has done the monumental job of building all the decorations and the committeemen and women will complete the task of stocking his delightfully designed and ingeniously constructed booths with festival values and games. All 20 of the booths have been decorated in different themes and shoppers will have fun locating garden supplies in one named Spring Gardens, goldfish will have a swimming good time under a banner proclaiming Golden Poppies, sports and toys will be found among The Wild Flowers and groceries will be displayed in an area designated Bloomin' Gardens. Sounds like fun!

Children's hour at the festival will be from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. tomorrow. Regular festival hours will be from 7 p.m. to midnight tomorrow and Friday, 1 p.m. to midnight on Saturday and Sunday.

Prices for the festival dinner on Saturday have been lowered to $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children with special rate of only $5 per large families. The chicken dinner is supplied by Joe's of Westlake and the Golden Coach. Reservations available from Mrs. Donald Welsh or Michael Griffin.

A LUNCHEON AND FASHION SHOW is being readied by the Instituto Cultural Mexicano Auxiliary for Saturday in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

The show will be entitled Mexico — Symphony in Fashion and will feature the designs of Don Miguel.

Reservations for the event, which begins at 11:30 a.m. may be made by calling Mrs. Martha Illescas, 589-8336, or Mrs. Bette Garcia, 334-6895.

The members of the North Peninsula Inter-City Council of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will observe the sorority's Founders' Day with a dinner meeting at the Brentwood Lodge tomorrow evening, according to Mrs. Marty Sugrue of Nu Sigma Chapter.

Mrs. Sugrue reports that a large contingent of Daly City members will be on hand to see Nu Sigma members Mrs. Rita Chase, Mrs. Isabell Eichner, Mrs. Bernice Gallo, Mrs. Jane Gottle, Mrs. Loretta Greer, Mrs. Esther Keil, Mrs. Lois Noonan, Mrs. Kathryn Raisis, Mrs. Olga Samuelsen and Mrs. Inez Thomas, receive exemplar degrees.

THE SAN FRANCISCO ALUMNAE Chapter of the Adpha Iota Business Sorority will meet at the home of Mr. Leonard Wolowic on Tuesday evening for the regular monthly business social meeting and to hear the report of nominating committee members Mrs. Joseph Cedeno, Mr. Edward Heavey, Mrs. George La Mar, Mrs. James McCraney and Mrs. James Nulty.

The book "Madame Sarah" by Cornelia Otis Skinner will be reviewed during the spring luncheon being planned by the Episcopal Church Women of St. Francis' Church for May 10 beginning at noon.

Guests attending will be asked to make a donation of $2.50. Reservations are available to those calling 664-4412 or 334-3129 prior to May 7.

Bethlehem's Tea, Fashion Show Planned

The Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Pacifica will hold its annual mother-daughter tea and spring fashion show, starting at 2 p.m., May 6, at the church.

Mrs. Francine Klippelstein and Mrs. Evelyn Sargent have additional details.

The free, public activity will feature free orchids for the women, door awards, cosmetic tips and demonstrations by Ovation Cosmetics, homecrafts and arts displays.

Proceeds will go to the church.

Rummage Sale Set for Next Week

St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church Women will stage its annual spring rummage sale on Tuesday and Wednesday at the church hall on Country Club Drive and Dorado Way, South San Francisco.

Mrs. Jack Dowling, president of the group, has announced that hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday.

RESERVE MAY 19 for a very special U.S.O. benefit for the Armed Forces in Vietnam!

Members of the U.S.O. Women's Auxiliary are preparing a star-studded fashion show with fabulous prizes and guests celebrities galore for that evening in the Maxonic Auditorium on San Francisco's Nob Hill.

North County's Mrs. Abe Miller is the general chairman and Mrs. Henry Herz of San Mateo is the reservations chairman. Tickets, costing $7.50, for sponsors; $5.50 for regular admission; and $3.50 for balcony, may be obtained by mailing a check to U.S.O., Post Office Box 1340, San Mateo.

Mrs. Murray Freedman is the Daly City chairman and persons wishing more information may call her.

Big fun for members of the Westlake Senior Citizens for next Wednesday! Officers and members have decided to tour up the San Joaquin River via Antioch to Isleton, to the Guild Winery, to a luncheon in Lodi, on to Stockton and Tracy and a tour of the Heinz Catsup plant and then home. Mrs. Bea Batz is the president of the Westlake Seniors group.

AWARDS IN SAFETY, publicity, international affairs, conservation and membership were garnered by the Pacifica Branch of the Federated Women's Club during the annual convention of the Golden Gate District in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest was the highlight speaker of the mid-April conclave and received a standing ovation, according to Mrs. Eva Morton, vice president of the Pacifica group and one of the members of the local delegation to the meeting.

Mrs. Enlalia Sumpter, 355-0412, is in charge of the unit's annual May visit to the Palo Alto Veterans' Home and she is eager for localites with ties, books or repairable items, suitable for aged hospital residents, to call her. The donations are distributed to the veterans during a bingo party and a special gift of script is given to the branch's own, special, "adopted" patient.

Why does Larry Anderson wear white carnations to Daly City Community Chorus rehearsals? No one seems to have the answer and Larry isn't going to enlighten a soul!

John Stewart is the latest addition to the group's tenor section and Lee Puddy is still receiving compliments for her performance at Ingleside Presbyterian Church where she made her debut as a soloist.

MRS. EUGENE CRANDALL, Mrs. A. R. "Roe" Ariani, and Mrs. Murray Freedman were among the helpers at the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association Auxiliary rummage sale who contributed heavily to the day's profits.

The ladies, all members of the Florence Crittenton Home North Peninsula Home, and keenly aware of the acute shortage of saleable items at the home's Still Stylish Shop, purchased many fine items for the shop's stock but the inventory is still low and Mrs. Edward Odenthal and Mrs. Michael Orlich are very interested in hearing from anyone who has things to donate.

Recent diners at Pacifica's High Iron were Mr. and Mrs. Shel Smith of Pacifica and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rogers of Westlake.

The party ended the evening by attending the Circle Star production of "Odd Couple."

Judy Ann Alaura Becomes Mrs. James Paul Hamptpon

Judy Ann Alaura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alaura of San Carlos, was married recently at St. Charles Church to James Paul Hampton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton of South San Francisco. The Rev. James Bond officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Chief Petty Officer's Club at Moffett Field.

For her wedding, Judy selected an Empire gown trimmed with victorian lace. A Juliet cap caught her veil.

Linda Barca, the maid of honor, and Susan Alaura, bridesmaid for her sister-in-law, were dressed alike in floor length yellow crepe costumes with daisy-appliqued bodices. They added yellow veils.

Gary Iacini was best man, and ushering duties were shared by John Alaura, brother of the bride; Dale Kuersten, cousin of the bridegroom; and the College of San Mateo. James studied at South San Francisco High School and was graduated from CSM.

PAPA Will Present SF Trio

Gilbert and Sullivan enthusiasts have learned that the second in a series of PAPA Spring Concerts will feature the Lamplighters Trio.

The group, which regularly stars in performances of Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas at the Harding Theater in San Francisco, will sing excerpts from such favorites as "Pinafore," "The Mikado," "Pirates of Penzance," and "Princess Ida." June Wilkins is the contralto lead, Gilbert Russak is the baritone, and Leroy Miller the accompanist of the group.

Jean Donohue, president of the Pacific Association of Performing Arts, series sponsor, said, the concert will be held April 30 at Cabrillo School, at 8 p.m.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

A third concert is planned May 14, in conjunction with the Pacific Arts Festival. This will feature the choir and chorale of the College of San Mateo.

A BIG, STUFFED DOG is a child's friend for life, especially if he's fluffy, too. Jimmy and Danny Diggins and Carolyn Kelleher cast longing glances at this one in hopes they might win him and other prizes like him at "Blossom Time," the festival sponsored by Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City on April 27 through 30. Proceeds will benefit the children of Our Lady of Mercy School.

Furniture Store Stays

The San Mateo Furniture store will remain in business at the same place—2049 South El Camino Real. The City Council last night assured the operator, Alfred Kimmel that it won't paint the curb red in front of the store, but will continue to allow curbside parking for its customers. The council granted the concession and agreed to a year's trial after Kimmel and the property owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stokes protested the curbside parking ban would put their store and about four other businesses in the area out of business. Vote Error Caught In S.S.F. Race

An apparent clerical error at a precinct in the South San Francisco Unified School District resulted in a 200-vote overage for candidate Robert T. Lamberton, but the error was caught and didn't show in the reported unofficial final returns from the county elections office, The Post has learned.

Yesterday's vote total reported by the elections office then still stands as correct. Lamberton's 628 votes placed him fifth among seven candidates for two board of trustees seats, 103 votes behind Young Han Choo, with 731.

THE LARGEST AND LOWEST PRICED SELECTION IN THE AREA

Six Finalists Seek D.C. Prize

By FRANK LA PIERRE

A five-member panel of local "beauty experts" undertook the almost impossible task of selecting five finalists for the Miss Daly City contest last week from a field of 17 beauties.

After almost an hour of heated deliberation they were unable to accomplish their mission.

An overflow crowd of parents, students and curious citizens waited patiently in the Westmoor High School Little Theater while the judges took ballot after ballot in an effort to thin the pageant ranks to five—but six names kept cropping up.

Each judge was firm in his opinion which girls should go on to the May 4 finals at the Elks Club in South San Francisco.

Finally, P. Evert Terminello, chairman of the chamber of commerce-sponsored event, broke the deadlock by suggesting all six lovelies be sent to the finals, thus passing on the headache to another panel of judges yet to be selected.

The cheer that arose from a gaggle of parents, worried friends and smiling students split the air and almost cracked the ceiling of the theater when Emcee Fred Martin revealed the decision.

At least three contestants left out a large sigh of relief, while the remainder smiled broadly.

The finalists — Sandra Tate, Steph Sutton, Sandy Conlan, Robene Brown, Sinthya Lockamy and Cindy Valdes — were judged on beauty, poise and stage personality.

Most of the girls expressed a strong desire to represent "my favorite city" in the coming year.

One girl when asked how she liked living in Daly City said "Oh... it's all right, I guess." She was not among the finalists. One thing all 17 contestants had was an abundance of beauty. Most were nervous and a bit self-conscious parading in front of their friends in swimsuits in the same school many attended daily.

Except for one girl, a secretary, the contestants were either from Jefferson or Westmoor High Schools.

The current Miss Daly City — Vivien Rieger — will be on hand next month to present her

OFFICIALS OF THE MISS DALY CITY contest last night sent these six beauties into the finals, May 4, in South San Francisco after judges were unable to narrow the field to five semi-finalists. Information Delays Some Mediclaims

"In the first six months of Medicare some payments were delayed because all the necessary information was not included with the claim," Everett M. Eaton, manager of the Mission District Social Security Office, said this week.

He invited all older people in Daly City to come to his office at 761 South Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, for assistance in filing their initial Medicare claims.

Eaton believes that most people will need help only with their first claim.

The Medicare Handbook, which everyone enrolled in Medicare should have, tells how to file claims but many claims are still being filed incorrectly.

For example, the bills must be itemized and the Medicare claim number must be included with every claim.

"Your Social Security District Office stands ready to offer any assistance in the filing of Medicare claims," Eaton said. "Although we don't pay the claim, we are able to answer any questions about Medicare and to help people get their claims ready for review."

The San Francisco Mission Social Security District Office is located at 761 South Van Ness Avenue between Eighteenth and Nineteenth.

The office is open from 8:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday and until 7:30 every Thursday evening.

Ben Franklin Schedules Last PTA Meet

The last Benjamin Franklin Junior High School PTA program for this year will be on Tuesday, May 2nd, at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi Purpose Room.

The 1967-68 officers will be installed that evening by Mrs. Michael Kerekes, former president of this organization and incoming president of Jefferson Council of PTA's. The officers will be as follows: Mesdames, Eldon Mac Rannels, president; Robert Hansen, Vice President; Donald Gibbons, recording secretary; Vernon Okerstrom, treasurer; William White, corresponding secretary; Derek Whittle, financial secretary; Joseph Narcisso, historian and Jack Mitchell auditor.

The girls of the seventh and eighth grade home economics classes, under the direction of their teachers Mrs. De Bock and Miss Dalstone, will present a fashion show of clothing they have constructed and will assist Mrs. Robert Hansen, hospitality chairman, in the serving of refreshments.

Commentators for the fashion show will be Misses: Shelly Wolf, Kathi Johnson, and Patty De Kelaite. Dennis Carr and his art classes are making decorations and programs for the evening. Mrs. Caroline Schwartz will provide a musical background.

The murals will remain on display throughout the 33rd annual Fair and Fiesta, July 31-August 12.

Eight mural spaces have been provided for the competition and six entries have already been accepted: two from Menlo-Atherton High School and one each from Hillsdale High School in San Mateo, San Carlos High School, Burlingame High School and Southwood High School in South San Francisco. The two remaining spaces are open and will be given to the earliest entries received by the San Mateo County Fair.

Students may participate individually or in groups.

Cash awards ranging from $30 to $100 will be presented to participating students according to the merits of their finished murals. Judging will take place on May 29.

"We believe this program will be enjoyed by students and fairgoers alike and will provide youngsters with an opportunity to use their creative talents in a constructive way," Fair Manager Ken Fry said.

Montara Appraisal For Dump

Hunt T. Norris of San Mateo has been retained by the County Board of Supervisors for a $1,350 fee to appraise the 945-acre Green Valley property north of Montara that is to be publicly acquired for a fill and cover garbage dump.

County Manager E. R. Stallings recommended the appointment because Hunt has done some recent appraisal work on adjoining property.

The 945-acre site, in two ownerships, is larger than will be used for the dump. The additional property is to be acquired so that Green Valley can be tied in eventually with two other parcels being set aside by the city of Pacifica and the North Coast County Water District for open space and recreation.

It is planned that the Green Valley property, for which federal open space funds are to be used, will be developed for parks and recreation with the dumping has been completed in the year 2000.

Bus Service Resumption Is Ordered

The Public Utilities Commission has again ordered Greyhound Bus Lines to provide commuter service for parts of San Mateo and Contra Costa counties.

The service was ordered before but annulled by the state Supreme Court on technical grounds.

The Commission ruling Tuesday directed Greyhound to operate peak-hour service along Skyline from the coast highway in Daly City to San Bruno Avenue in San Bruno, and between Concord and Walnut Creek in Contra Costa county.

The San Mateo service should begin within 60 days and the Contra Costa line with 80 days.

Pacifica Summer Camp Season Plans Underway

The Pacifica Campership Committee has been actively working for the past few months in preparation for the approaching summer camping season. Rev. Gene Davis, currently serving as chairman of the committee, has announced.

As in the past, it is intended that the campership program will enable many Pacifica children to take advantage of a wholesome camping experience. The Campership Committee was organized in March of 1963 for the purpose of soliciting funds to send Pacifica's needy and underprivileged children to summer camp.

The 1966 campership program was able to assist in providing a camping experience to 33 youngsters, and it is hoped that even more will be given the opportunity this year.

At the last meeting of the Campership Committee, plans were formulated for an appeal to the community to provide financial assistance for the program, since this is the determining factor as to how many children can obtain a camping experience.

All of the donations received are used to provide financial assistance to needy children.

Rev. Davis pointed out that

Pacifican Fined For Mint Theft

Lee Bedgood, of Pacifica, was fined $500 and was placed on probation last week for smuggling $94 in quarters out of the U.S. Mint here.

The sentence was imposed by U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter who said Bedgood had "an otherwise unblemished background" and was "hard-working."

"I think I see here a drive for financial security which led him to cut corners," Carter said. "It's a human failing, but it's a dangerous one."

The mint employee was accused of stealing the money by taping some of the quarters to his legs and hiding the rest in a tobacco pouch. He was arrested in February and pleaded guilty to theft charges.

Four other mint employees have also pleaded guilty to charges of stealing coins but they have not been sentenced. Another employee has pleaded innocent and demanded a jury trial.

The arrests prompted federal officials to tighten up security measures at the downtown facility.

Sugar 'n Spice

'Mildewed', She Starts Baking

Nell Norton

Here we are on the last Wednesday in April, and it's done nothing but rain for this whole month. I don't know about you, but I'm getting mildewed.

There is one blessing about rainy days they keep me in the house, doing all those chores so easily put off on sunny days. The linen closet is neat, the oven is clean and I finally found that earring that had been missing for months. (I didn't find the earring in the oven, if you were wondering.)

ONE OF THE HAPPIER doings on damp days was testing some new recipes that my friends have sent me. This first recipe for a delicious and beautiful cake came to me from Mrs. Dolores Healy who lives at 1570-33rd. Ave. in San Francisco.

Dolores is quite expert at baking and combines this talent with an eye for beauty which results in pleasurable eating when you are at her home.

This cake is a joy in many ways. Not the least of which is the fact that you use a cake mix and an instant pudding in its preparation. The results of this mixing and fixing is a cake that is about 6-inches high and a beauty to the eye.

CRUNCH CAKE

PACKAGE YELLOW OR WHITE CAKE MIX

Prepare as directed on box. Before baking top each layer with half of the following mixture.

Before I give the quantities for the topping I want to say that I lined the bottom of my eight-inch cake pans with paper, this made the cakes slip out easier when I inverted them to cool.

TOPPING

- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup nuts, chopped fine
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine the two tablespoons flour with the one-half cup brown sugar and one half cup chopped nuts, add the cinnamon and mix well. Sprinkle on tops of cakes. Bake in oven as directed on box.

When you turn the cakes upside down to cool, some of the topping will fall off. Just scoop it up and save it to sprinkle on top of the cake as you assemble it.

FILLING

- 1 small can crushed pineapple, drained well
- 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 1 package instant vanilla pudding
- 1 cup milk

Before you start mixing the cake, open the pineapple and allow it to drain while you go about the mixing and fixing.

Mix the one package of instant vanilla pudding with the one cup of milk. After pudding has set add the drained pineapple and whipped cream and blend through pudding.

Split the layers to make four. Place on nut-side layer down on dish, top with filling.

Repeat saving the other nut-side layer for top of cake. The amount of filling is generous, so use plenty between layers. Do not put around sides. You may, if you wish, frost the sides of the cake with whipped cream. I felt it made it more attractive with the crunchy brown topping the frosty white cake.

This cake is better if it is made ahead and refrigerated.

THESE NEXT RECIPES came to me from Mrs. Kay Matlock who lives at 556-S. El Camino Real in San Mateo. Kay tells me that this raisin square recipe has been a favorite of hers for years and now her three daughters who are married are baking them for their little ones.

RAISIN SQUARES

- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 2 Tablespoons ground chocolate
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup chopped or ground raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 3 Tablespoons whiskey, or fruit juice

Separate the three eggs. Beat the yolks and add the one cup of sugar. Sift together the one cup of flour one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice and cloves; the two tablespoons cocoa and one teaspoon baking powder. Combine the sifted dry ingredients with the creamed mixture. Next add the one-half cup each nuts and chopped raisins and the three tablespoons whiskey, this mixture will be dry, but don't worry, just add the three beaten egg whites and mix well.

Spread about one-third inch. thick in a greased and floured pan about 13x9 inches. Bake in 350-degree oven about 20 minutes or until firm to the touch.

Top with a frosting made of one cup of sifted powdered sugar and enough hot water to make it spreadable. Cut into diamond shapes. This makes about 4-dozen delicious diamonds, or more, depending on the size.

KAYS "K" AND CHIPS

- 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup white syrup
 - three-fourths cup chunky peanut butter
- Combine the one one-half cup each of sugar and white syrup. Stir in the peanut butter and bring to a boil. (This doesn't come to a merry bubbling boil, you have to stir it constantly so it won't stick and it is about the consistency of cooked creamed wheat.) When it begins to form big bubbles, it's ready.

Pour this over three and one-half cups of cereal. Mix well and pat into a buttered dish, 13x9-inches.

Top with one package of melted butter-scotch chips and one package chocolate chips. Melt them separately and spread them in a sort of marble design over the cereal. Allow to cool and cut into squares.

County Rose Show Slated May 6 and 7

Plans for the Twenty-first Annual Rose Show to be held in San Mateo May 6th and 7th will be completed at the next regular meeting of the San Mateo County Rose Society. This meeting will be held at the Baywood School in San Mateo, at 8 p.m., Thursday, April 27.

To assist members in selecting and grooming their roses for the show competition, Mrs. Elaine Cochran, American Rose Society judge and a member of the San Francisco Rose Society, will speak and demonstrate her successful methods.

In addition, the first monthly show competition of this season will be held during the meeting, with Mrs. R. L. Averill of San Carlos, chairman of arrangements division, and Julian Hargrove of Colma, chairman of cut blossom section. To further assist and instruct members Hargrove will lead a discussion on specific reasons winning blooms were chosen over others.

Mrs. Emil Rehm and Mrs. George Marchant, hostesses, will serve refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Elaine Cochran and Mrs. O. A. Pendleton.

Don F. Marshall, president of the Society, invites everyone interested in roses to attend this meeting.

1st Woman In D. C. Jail

A 16-year-old runaway girl had the dubious honor of being the first female booked into the new multi-million dollar Daly City police department Friday.

Police moved into their spacious new quarters adjoining the civic center at 10 a.m. and five hours later, the unidentified youth was taken into custody and transferred to Huclyrest Youth Guidance Center.

Next to share the spotlight at the new station was an Oakland man, Riley Turner, 24, suspected of trespassing and investigation of burglary.

Officer Dallas Weber made the arrest at 4:27 p.m. after receiving a complaint from a Daly City apartment house owner, who said Turner was trespassing on his property.

Try Some Daisies in Your Garden

By IVA NEWMAN

Daisy is the popular, or common, name the public bestowed upon a rather large group of plants that have caught their fancy and held it over the years. When you speak of a "Daisy" you may mean a chrysanthemum or a rudbeckia, a gerbera or any one of a couple of dozen or more different plants. However, nearly all of the plants in the "Daisy" group have open-faced flowers with ray petals around yellow disks. Many of the "Daisies" are very worthwhile garden plants that give an abundance of blooms over a long period of time.

The true daisy of history and literature is a little low-growing herb known botanically as "Bellis perennis." It has been cultivated for centuries as the true daisy and it is still a popular bedding plant especially in the east where it is known as the "English Daisy." This name has carried west and now series on the Peninsula have young plants in flats or "ponypaks" carrying the label "English Daisies." However, most of these are hybrids with double flowers. English Daisies make a basal clump of leaves similar to a rosette with the flowers rising from the center on three to six inch stems. It is a delightful low edging or bedding plant and especially effective when used as a ground cover under spring flowering bulbs.

The "Paris Daisy" is one of the Peninsula's most useful and widely planted perennials. Botanically it is Chrysanthemum frutescens but we on the West Coast know it better under the name of "Marguerite." It comes to us from the Canary Islands but our plantmen have improved the flowers without changing their character. This Daisy is a rapid growing, much branched perennial with a woody base. It has bright green divided leaves and open-faced flowers one and a half to two and half inches in diameter in white, yellow and pink. Some of the newer hybrids have double, anemone type flowers and a more restrained habit of growth.

One of the nice things about Marguerites, especially for new home owners, is that small plants set out now will grow to four feet across by summer giving a fine mound of color. Many nurseries carry these daisies in gallon cans. When choosing plants in cans choose the smaller, compact plants as the large vigorous ones with large leaves are quite apt to be shy bloomers. Also avoid plants with fasciated stems (stems that are flattened and wider than normal). We prefer to choose young plants, as they are really rapid growers, and pinch the growing tips back a couple of times to force the plant to produce more flowering tips. When the plant seems to be covered with more spent blooms than fresh ones shear it back and it will come into good flower again quickly.

If you have the Marguerite daisy in your garden and it is more than three years old and looks leggy, discard it and plant a new one as they seldom produce new growth from old wood. You can grow your own replacements by rooting some of the succulent new tips in wet sand or vermiculite. Chrysanthemum maximum, the popular "Shasta Daisy," is well known to most Peninsula gardeners. A lot of work has been done on these daisies and the original Shasta daisy with its coarse leaves and its white, gold centered flower heads has been superseded by varieties with larger, better formed flowers and a longer flowering season. Some of these varieties will bloom from late April until late October. Flower arrangers have found they can adapt the white blooms to any color scheme by placing the cut stems in water to which food coloring of their choice has been added.

Shop for these daisies in gallon cans when the plants are in flower. Most of the better, newer varieties are named, our favorite is "Alaska," a big old-fashioned single. The most popular could be "Esther Reed" which had a white center surrounded by white ray petals. We also grow the "Marconi," a large frilly double that produces blooms the year around in our garden.

The Shasta Daisies like a fairly rich, moist soil that is well drained. They prefer full sun but we find our flowers last longer on the clumps that have been protected from the hot afternoon sun. We have also found that flowering is better and the clumps stay healthier and neater if we lift and divide them every two to three years. Usually we have to water them well at this time of year in order to get long stems but the rain has taken care of this chore so fertilizing is all that we have done. Do keep the spent flowers cut so the plant will continue to produce new flowering growth and stay attractive. Also spread snail and slug bait as these pests love the petals.

The Gerbera or "Transvaal Daisy" is another great favorite of ours. We transplanted our collection the first part of April as the clumps had become sadly overcrowded and with the continued rain we are greatly worried for fear some of the divisions may rot. The gerberas are the most elegant of daisies. They have large, four to five-inch blooms, (one to a stem) on stems fifteen to eighteen inches long that rise directly from the crown. The petal color ranges from cream through yellow to coral, flame and red. They are long lasting as a cut flower but we have found the flower heads have a disturbing way of twisting out of position in a carefully designed arrangement.

The main need of the Transvaal daisy is a well drained soil. They need to be watered deeply then the soil should be allowed to get on the dry side before they are given another deep watering. Another definite need is to keep the crowns uncovered. When setting out the plants be sure the crowns are set slightly above the soil surface and firm the surrounding soil so that it will not wash over the crown when the plants are watered.

Transvaal daisies like full sun (they come from South Africa) But we have found our plants do exceptionally well in front of a rose bed where the roses shade them from the blazing afternoon sun and also shield them from the strongest winds. They are fertilized along with the roses every month and we have blooms nearly every day of the year.

Two more "Daisies" that Peninsula gardeners should get acquainted with as the are such useful and colorful garden plants are the "Gazanias" (South African Daisies) and the "Felicia" (blue daisy or blue marguerite).

There are two types of gazania plants, one a clumping type and one a trailing type. It is the trailing type that we like best as it has a most spectacular hybrid named "Copper King" which has fine large flowers of deep orange that rise above the low, ground-

Lions Prepare Big Show for Charity

Under the joint sponsorship of the Daly City-Colma Lions Club and the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Guild, tickets go on sale Thursday for a 60-minute stage show, "Say It With Music," and an after-show buffet.

The affair, slated for 8 p.m., Saturday, June 17, at the Daly City War Memorial Center, 6655 Mission Street, is a fund-raising project launched for a dual purpose.

Joe Mottola, president of the Daly City-Colma Lions Club, said proceeds from the stage performance and the buffet will be equally divided between Girl Scout Troop 8 of Daly City and Colma and the Lions' Youth Welfare Fund.

Ira Neville, secretary-treasurer of the local Lions' unit, said the club's Youth Welfare Fund is badly depleted and needs replenishment. This is the fund, Neville said, that helps support Guide Dogs for the Blind, the Lions' Eye Bank, White Cane project, Operation Santa Claus and other worthy charitable causes in the Daly City-Colma area.

Mrs. R. L. Eversole, 672 Florence Street, Colma, leader of Girl Scout Troop 8, said their portion of the proceeds will "put them over the top" in a three-year campaign to raise some $6,000 for a round-trip Grey-

Handicapped Mental Health Plan in S.S.F. To Hold Meetings Is Initiated

South San Francisco Unified School District has initiated a special education program which is unique in this area as it will provide classes for the educationally handicapped and the educable mentally retarded from the first through twelfth grades.

At present there are three classes covering grades one through nine and serving 33 students who are educationally handicapped. "But there are enough primary grade students to begin another class," reported Dr. Paul Nielsen, district superintendent.

This special program will begin with the fall semester.

Representatives of private psychiatry, county mental health services and voluntary agencies will be present at the town meeting series to answer questions by the public, and discuss the needs of community mental health.

The series will be held on May 9 at 8 p.m.—North County Mental Health Center, 45 Southgate, Daly City; Dr. Edward Macklin, psychiatrist in private practice, Dr. Howard Gurevitz, Chief, North County Mental Health Center, Paul T. Schabacker, A.C.S.W., Executive Director, San Mateo County Mental Health Association.

In announcing the series of Town Meetings being sponsored by the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, Dr.

Samuel R. Leavitt, Association president, noted, "Mental health is a 'here and now' subject."

"The people in State hospitals come from communities just like San Mateo County. There are many kinds of needs besides full-time State hospital care, and we think they need to be talked about."

"We'd like to see two things happen. First, the community should give direction to planning in any mental health program. This can be done only through hearing from the people who live in that community. Second, there are many kinds of facilities, public private and voluntary that do exist which many people don't know about, or don't quite understand. This is a good way to find out about them. The mental health of a community is a two-way street. There should be a lot more traffic on that street in San Mateo County," he said.

There has been a great deal said about cut-backs in the California mental health budget.

Does any of this really effect me? Is this money out of my pocket?

What kind of facilities are there near me, and how do I use them? I think we need to do more about disturbed kids. What about the drug abuse? Just who needs help, anyway? Are some of the questions asked.

The Mental Health Association of San Mateo County offers a series of town meetings as a place to bring such questions, comments, or criticisms.

Overpass In Design Stage, Sign Contract

The contract between South San Francisco and the Division of Highways for construction of the Junipero Serra-Clay Avenue pedestrian overpass was signed this week, and engineers have begun work on the project design, Assemblyman Leo Ryan reported last week.

District Highway Engineer Alan S. Hart said the $75,000 project will be completed "No later than this summer."

The state, city and South San Francisco Unified School District are sharing the cost of the $75,000 overpass.

School Lunch Can Guide Homemades

Milk is so important in the diet of growing children that federal and state authorities co-operate in programs that provided California's children with over 415-million half-pint equivalents of milk during the 1965-1966 school year.

If your youngster(s) come home to lunch or do not participate in the National School Lunch Program, you'll be wise to review the specifications of the Type A lunch planned by nutritionists as a guide to your luncheon planning to insure ample protein and other nutrients vital to child growth and body repair. Milk comes first.

One-half pint of whole milk as a beverage.

Two ounces of lean meat, poultry, fish or cheese, or one egg, or a half-cup of cooked dry beans or peas or four tablespoons of peanut butter.

Three-fourths cup of vegetables or fruit or both.

One or more portions of bread, muffins or other bread of whole grain cereal or enriched flour.

Two tablespoons of butter or fortified margarine.

Between-Meal Snacks: The school program also emphasizes the importance of between-meal snacks for growing children. It isn't necessary to prepare special food every day for hungry home-from-school children. Enriched or whole grain bread and a variety of spreads make an ideal snack along with a pitcher of milk handy for help-yourselfers.

Coffeecake Prepared With Carrots

Follow directions and you'll have a fine dessert.

Meat Loaf Baked Potatoes
Creamed Spinach Rolls
Carrot Coffeecake Beverage

CARROT COFFEECAKE

1½ cups sifted regular flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 large eggs
1 cup packed down medium-coarse grated raw pared carrots (2 very large)
½ cup raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
½ cup chopped (medium fine) walnuts

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Gradually stir in sifted ingredients to blend; add carrots, raisins and walnuts and stir enough to distribute evenly. Turn into a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan (bottom greased, then lined with buttered wax paper). Bake in a 350-degree oven for 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool completely. Wrap tightly in saran and refrigerate overnight. Slice after chilling; wrap slices (piled one on top of the other) and reheat briefly in moderate or hot oven. Serve at once.

In small bowl, beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in sugar; continue to beat until stiff; reserve. Without washing beater, in medium bowl, cream the butter, honey and lemon rind; thoroughly beat in egg yolks. Add flour, lemon juice and milk; stir to combine — don't worry about curdled look. Stir in cereal. Fold in reserved egg whites. Turn into six 5-ounce custard cups; place in pan of hot water with water coming up almost as high as pudding mixture. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until top is golden brown and firm. (There will be a cake-like topping and a custard-like bottom.) Chill and serve without turning out.

Dessert Pancakes Are Stuffed With Pudding, Topped With Sauce

For a delightful party dessert, go Franco-American.

Make up a batch of thin French pancakes, 6-inch skillet size. (The French call these crepes.) Just before you are ready to serve your dessert, warm them in a mixture of butter, sugar and orange juice in a big skillet. Then spread each with the very French chestnut puree called creme de marrons, pile up on very American vanilla pudding mixed with whipped cream and roll up. As you finish each pancake, place it on an ovenproof platter in an oven (set at "Warm") until the whole batch is ready. Top the pancakes with chocolate sauce and toasted slivered almonds and bring your chef d'oeuvre to the party table. Delicious.

Now to a few details. You can use your favorite recipe for the French pancakes or try one from a standard cookbook.

The creme de marrons comes in cans, imported from France, and is available in many food shops, we found ours in the specialty food shop of a large New York department store. For this creme, processed chestnuts are pureed, sweetened and vanilla-flavored. The delightful result may be used many ways. For example, at a French restaurant here in New York the chef nestles a ball of ice cream in a sherbert glass, spoons the creme de marrons around the ice and tops the creme de marrons with rosettes of whipped cream.

The chocolate sauce may be home-prepared or bought; ditto the slivered toasted almonds.

Bon appetit!

DESSERT PANCAKES
1 package (3¼ ounces) vanilla-flavor pudding and pie filling

1½ cups milk
¼ cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1-3 cup orange juice
10 to 12 thin French pancakes, 6-inch skillet size
Creme de marrons, from a 1 pound and 1 ounce can Hot chocolate sauce and toasted slivered blanched almonds

Cook the pudding mix, using the 1½ cups milk, according to package directions; cool. Whip the cream and fold into the cooled pudding; cover and chill. At serving time, into a 10-inch skillet, turn the butter, sugar and orange juice; stir over low heat to combine. Place a pancake in the orange juice mixture to warm for a few seconds; turn and warm other side; quickly roll up and shove to side of skillet. Treat the rest of the pancakes the same way; if needed, add a little more butter, sugar and orange juice.

Jeweled Pears
Drain pear halves and arrange two pear halves in a sherbert glass. Top with a small scoop of orange sherbet and some cubes of strawberry gelatin.

Quickly remove and unroll a pancake and spread with some of the creme de marrons; spoon a portion of the chilled vanilla pudding over the center of the pancake; roll up and place on a heatproof serving platter; cover with foil and keep warm in a very low oven. Fill the rest of the pancakes, roll up and keep warm the same way.

Top with chocolate sauce and almonds and serve at once. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Note: There will be more creme de marrons in the can than needed for this recipe. Store it in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator and use another time for this dessert or others.

Lemon Crusted Fish Fillets
Dip seasoned fish fillets into beaten egg. Mix dry bread crumbs with finely grated lemon rind. Bread fish and fry as usual.

If Not Dining on the Riviera, Try These Recipes at Your Table

HAUT-DE-CAGNES — Michel has given hotel-restaurant Le Cagnard just one star, but its devotees staunchly insist that this is not nearly enough for one of the most attractive establishments on the French Riviera.

The hotel, tucked up against the medieval walls of Haut-de-Cagnes, not far from Nice, counts only 14 rooms, but each one is a gem, with beamed ceiling, local antique furniture and a view of the sea. Bathrooms are modern and the plumbing faultless.

There's central heating laid on in case of a chill in the air. Cool breezes from the sea and thick walls of what was once part of the village's medieval fortifications, tend to keep the rooms cool in hot weather.

Breakfast is served to guests in their rooms, but lunch and dinner are friendly affairs in the vasty handsome dining room, originally part of the Grimaldi barracks. It was the guardroom for soldiers of Cagnes' 14th Century feudal lords.

La Cagnard is run by a young couple, both of whom take a warm personal interest in every detail of their charming hotel. Both frequently serve at the bar and tables, though the kitchen is ruled over by a treasure of a chef, who once worked at the famous Eden Roc Hotel in Antibes.

The meals are superbly varied, though all are based on native Provencal traditions. Adventurous diners staying awhile may test a fabulous cross-section of Provencal and Nicois specialties. There's many a savory hint of herbs — tarragon, rosemary, oregano — in the meats and sauces. Mixed salads, in the local tradition, usually including five or six different greens; fish from the nearby Mediterranean, stuffed vegetables and truffled pates regale the diners day after day.

The hotel guests, whether they choose half or full board, can select anything on the menu. There are no limitations, and if they miss a meal one day, they can bring a friend the next, to compensate for it. If they've taken half board, a missed meal can be made up another day when they feel like sitting down to two.

Believe it or not, to stay in this dreamy little hideaway, it can cost as little as $15-per person per day, all told.

Four of the typical Provencal specialties one is likely to enjoy at Le Cagnard, are the famous "Bouillabaisse," a rich fish chowder; "Bourride," a spicy fish stew; "Pistou," a thick country vegetable soup; and "Courgettes a la provencale," a dish made with the squash-family vegetable, known also as zucchini.

Although Le Cagnard guards its own recipes like money in the bank, here are some excellent recipes, through the courtesy of the French Government

Tourist Office and the Larousse Gastronomique, for amateurs of culinary experimentation.

BOULLABAISSE

Put into a high walled, big casserole: 1-cup of chopped onions, 3-large seeded and chopped tomatoes, 8 small cloves of pounded garlic, a sprig of fennel and 3 sprigs of bruised parsley, a sprig of thyme, and bay leaf and a piece of dry orange peel. On top of these vegetables and aromatics first salt and freshly ground pepper. Add a good pinch of powdered saffron with enough water to cover the fish completely. Boil briskly, with a lid on, for 7 to 8 minutes. Then add the fish with the delicate flesh, such as whiting and red mullets, and cook together, still allowing to boil briskly. Total cooking time does not exceed 14 to 15 minutes. Arrange the prices of fish and crustaceans on a large, deep round dish standing on an other deep dish containing slices of home-made bread. Strain the soup over these, sprinkle with roughly chopped parsley and serve everything together. In France the following fish are used: rascasse, chapon, saint-pierre, conger-eel, angler-fish, red mullet, rouquier, whiting, sea perch, spiny lobster crabs and other shellfish. In the U.S., some of these varieties do not exist and may be substituted for by: gurnet, mackerel, small turbot, fresh tuna, perch, pike, grayling, trout, eel-pout and

For 2 pounds of various small fish put the following ingredients into a small casserole: 2 quarts of water, 2 onions, 2 tomatoes, 2 cloves of garlic — all finely chopped — and a "bouquet garni" (aromatic herbs or plants tied together). Add a little bitter orange peel, season, then add 2 good tablespoons of olive oil and a little saffron. Put in the fish and allow to boil fast for 1/4-hour. Strain the stock through a sieve, pressing the vegetables. Bind the stock with a liaison of 2 yolks of egg mixed with some "ailoli" (garlic flavored mayonnaise). Simmer lightly and pour into a soup tureen on slices of bread. Serve the fish separately.

Grated Apples For Moist Fruit Bread

Bits of apple give wonderful flavor and texture to a loaf of quick bread. Their flavor mingles with that of sugar, flour, cinnamon and butter or margarine which contributes the crumbly topping to this home-baked loaf.

Combining the lard with sugar, then eggs and milk, is easy. Only one-fourth cup lard is needed in this recipe to give richness as well as tenderness to the bread.

Thinly sliced, Apple Crumb Bread will be popular at a special luncheon with a meaty salad as the main dish. When spread with softened cream cheese it will make delightful sandwiches for tea or as a snack for the school-age set.

APPLE CRUMB BREAD

2 cups sifted flour

2 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 cup melted lard

1 cup sugar

2 eggs, beaten

2 tablespoons milk

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup grated unpeeled tart apples

1/4 cup chopped nuts

3 tablespoons flour

2 tablespoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Line the bottom of a 9x5-inch loaf pan with double thickness of waxed paper. Sift together 2 cups flour, baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Combine the lard, 1 cup sugar, eggs and milk. Mix well. Add the vanilla, apples and nuts. Add sifted ingredients, stirring only until ingredients are moistened. Pour into loaf pan and let stand 30 minutes. Combine 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, cinnamon and butter or margarine. Sprinkle mixture over batter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 55 to 60 minutes or until done. If glass loaf dish is used, reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees Fahrenheit.

Ripe Olives Dress Up hot vegetables. Mix pitted, sliced or chopped ripe olives with buttered green beans, peas, spinach or corn for extra flavor and texture. On other occasions, you might put ripe olives in a cream sauce to go over vegetables.

Harlequin Ham Casserole 'Saucy'

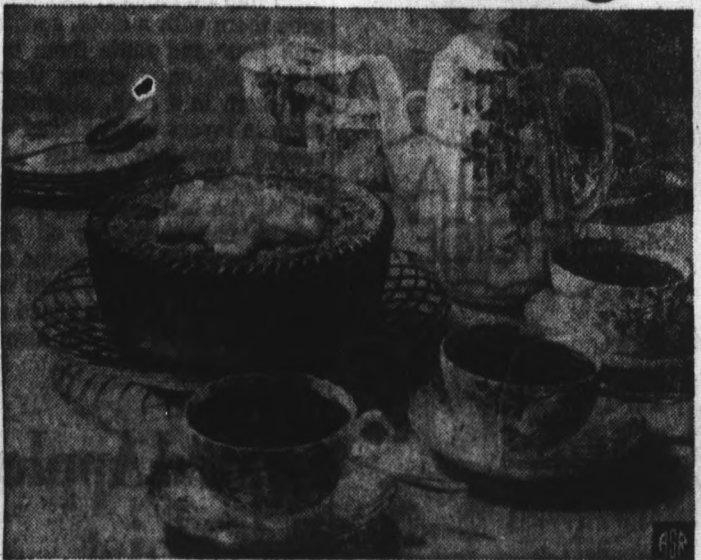

Casseroles are a never-ending subject—they offer so many tantalizing ways to dress up leftovers or to combine inexpensive ingredients so that they are both flavorful and attractive. Harlequin Ham Casserole is a perfect example and a wonderful way to use cooked ham. You start with a simple cream sauce using a fine, rich margarine. Then stir in an especially smooth salad dressing. With the dressing's light and lively seasonings, the casserole needs no other flavor enhancers except a little salt. Add rice, green pepper, water chestnuts, aged shredded Parmesan cheese, pimiento and, of course, ham. Now you have a dish fit for special company that's a guaranteed family favorite, too. To complete the meal, you'll need a salad (either fruit or vegetable), bread or rolls and a beverage. Most folks won't even want dessert—they'll ask for another serving of Harlequin Ham Casserole!

Harlequin Ham Casserole
 1/4 cup margarine 2 cups cooked rice
 1/4 cup flour 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1 1/2 cups milk 1/2 cup sliced water chestnuts
 1/2 cup salad dressing 1/4 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 2 cups cubed cooked ham

Make a cream sauce with margarine, flour and milk; stir in salad dressing and salt. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour into a 2-quart casserole; cover and bake at 350°, 30 minutes. 8 to 10 servings.

Put Some Coffee In Your Pudding

Coffee and bread and butter are the sort of homey fare we all enjoy. Put them together in a rich, custard pudding and you have something really special. This unusual Coffee Bread-And-Butter Pudding is so versatile and delicious, it will hit the spot any time and every time you serve it—at a friendly luncheon, a family dinner or an elegant coffee party.

A blend of raisin bread, coffee and a bit of spice, this tasty bread pudding is definitely a "second-helping" dessert. And you should have plenty of good, heart-warming coffee to go along with those extra helpings. For fine flavor and aroma, start your brew with newly-bought ground coffee, a clean coffee-maker and fresh, cold water straight from the tap.

Coffee Bread-And-Butter Pudding
 1 cup strong coffee 2 eggs
 1 cup light cream 1/2 cup sugar
 2 cups milk 1/2 teaspoon salt
 8 thin slices raisin bread 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Soft butter or margarine 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 Combine coffee, cream and milk. Bring to scalding point. Spread bread slices lightly with butter or margarine. Do not trim off crusts. Cut in 1/2-inch cubes and add to coffee mixture. Beat eggs slightly. Add sugar and salt. Mix well. Add bread mixture and vanilla. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Set casserole in pan of warm water. Bake in moderate oven, 325°, 1 hour and 15 minutes or until knife inserted near rim of casserole comes out clean. Chill. Serve with plain or whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

It's Time Again For Corn Chowder

Get out the soup kettle and stir up a thick, nourishing chowder for supper, one that's full of enticing flavors, promising aromas. Creamy-rich chowders and other soups of great substance can provide the basis for a satisfyingly good repeat, with nothing but a crisp green salad, bread and butter, and a simple fruit dessert to round out the meal.

Rich creaminess and full body so important to chowders and cream soups are achieved in the following recipe by the use of the non-dairy powdered creamer, Cream. This is the creamer currently making culinary news as a convenient replacement for milk and cream in cooking. Count on this new kitchen shelf staple to give this Corn Cheese Chowder rich flavor, creamy smoothness.

Corn Cheese Chowder

6 slices bacon, diced
1 small onion, chopped
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups water
1 cup raw, diced potatoes
1/4 teaspoon dried sage
1 large bay leaf
1 cup non-dairy Cream
1 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups grated cheddar cheese
2 cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine bacon and onion in large saucepan; cook until bacon is done and onion is tender. Blend in flour; cook 1 minute without coloring. Add the 2 cups water, potatoes, sage and bay leaf; cover and cook until potatoes are just tender (10 to 15 minutes). Remove bay leaf; add Cream, 1 cup boiling water, grated cheese, corn and seasonings. Heat until soup comes to the boil and cheese melts. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and chives. Makes 6 cups, or 6 servings.

Asparagus Rice Lunch Casserole

When you get a last minute phone call announcing guests for luncheon you'll be glad you clipped this recipe for Asparagus-Rice Luncheon Casserole.

Made almost entirely of cupboard and refrigerator staples, the savory and attractive casserole doesn't indicate its ease of preparation. While the rice and eggs cook, the cheese can be sliced and the soups and milk blended so that they can be arranged in a casserole ready for baking in a matter of minutes. A little more than half an hour of baking turns it into a hot and bubbly main course, ideal for a guest luncheon.

Accompany Asparagus-Rice Luncheon Casserole with crisp greens salad and for dessert serve chilled cling peaches topped with toasted coconut.

Use any kind of American-grown rice—brown, regular milled white, parboiled, or precooked for this recipe. Simply follow the package directions for cooking and be assured of tender, fluffy rice.

Wine and Cheese Tasting Under Tent a Feature at Decorators' Show House

By ELDA HOLMES
Wine and cheese will be served under the tented area at the "Maison de Ville," 670 Brewer Drive, Hillsborough, every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30.
The table will be covered with a cloth with shades of orange and white stripes and centered with an authentic grapevine trunk, including leaves and grapes.
Husbands of San Mateo County Junior Museum Auxiliary members will help serve. Among those are David Atchison, whose wife, Marian, is chairman of the wine and cheese tasting.
Grapes in Rich Land
Grapes are grown on California land that is rich in history, legend and tradition. They are grown on rolling foothills where spring comes early and by late February vine slopes and upland meadows are green and thick with wildflowers.

Summers generally are rainless but are tempered in the evening by cool winds off the cool Pacific or a bay of water.
The fall is vintage time, and thousands of acres of mountain vineyards yield what are certainly among the finest wines of this country and indeed of the world. Winter is the time to care for new-made wines in the aging cellars.
A century ago there were vines around all the Missions, as at San Juan Bautista, and a handful of progressive Frenchmen had plantings of their own cuttings brought from France by sailing vessels around the Horn — and were attempting to create a fine wine industry.

Earliest of these was Almaden, near San Jose, founded in 1852. Charles LeFranc, a Frenchman from Bordeaux, planted cuttings from his native France in his vineyard along Guadalupe Creek, in the foothills of the Santa Cruz Mountains near Los Gatos.
Wines to Be Served
The wines that will be served are Pinot, Chardonnay, Gewurztraminer, Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Noir, and Mountain Nectar Vin Rose.
Pinot Chardonnay and Gewurztraminer are varietal white wines. The few truly distinguished varieties of white wine grapes have one unique quality; they are able to transmit their character, flavor, bouquet, and basic excellence to wines made from them. These have been transplanted to California from the great wine districts of Europe. Pinot Chardonnay is from Burgundy. Gewurztraminer is from the Rhineland.

PINOT CHARDONNAY is a dry white wine of extraordinary balance and breed. It is perfect with fish, shellfish, fowl, and cold dishes. Serve chilled.
GEWURZTRAMINER means "spicy" Traminer in German. This wine, not too dry, has the spicy bouquet and unusual flavor of its Alsatian and German prototype. Should be thoroughly chilled. Serve with fish or chicken.
Red Wines
Cabernet Sauvignon and Pinot Noir are red wines. With a few rare exceptions, red wines require more aging than white wines. The better the wine, the more true this is. Red wines have less of that early freshness and fragrance which is the youthful charm of white wines. They can be harsh and rough and even astringent in their youth. It is only with time that they become well-balanced and gracious and show themselves at their best.

CABERNET SAUVIGNON is a California wine that is full of the characteristic bouquet and flavor of the superb Cabernet grape of Bordeaux. Serve at room temperature with chicken, beef or lamb.
PINOT NOIR is made from the Pinot Noir grape of Burgundy. It should be served at the temperature of a cool dining room. Serve with game, red meats, or cheese.

MOUNTAIN NECTAR VIN ROSE is popular because of its unlimited use. Its color is its natural color and it owes a good deal of its freshness and fruit and charm to the fact that it is young. Served chilled, it is one of the most delightful of wines, informal, easy, and gay. It requires no elaborate service, no "ritual," no complicated menus. It is cheerful, pretty to look at, and it goes not with just some special dish, but with everything.
Cheeses on Display
The cheeses that will be served at the "Decorators' Show House" are Camembert, Brie, Schloss, and Breakfast cheese.
CAMEMBERT CHEESE is often called the "queen of cheeses," since this world famous cheese is legendary. Named by Napoleon after the tiny hamlet of Camembert in Orne, France, where it originated, it is mild in flavor, soft and creamy in texture, with a "nutty" tanginess unlike any other soft ripened cheese. It is best served "straight" as a dessert spread on neutral crackers, with its native goodness complemented by thin slices of apple or pear.

Half-way around the world from its place of invention in France, Camembert cheese is being produced.
Since 1865 four generations of Thompsons working in the family cheese factory on the western slopes of California's Pacific Coast have perfected the art of the Camembert process. Also produced in this cheese factory under the Rouge et Noir brand are the equally notable and intriguing cheeses — Brie, Schloss, and Breakfast cheese.

New Year's Gift
BRIE CHEESE was popular as a New Year's gift in fifteenth century France. It was described in "An Ode to Brie" by St. Amant in the seventeenth century as "this gentle jam of Bacchus."
Creamy, with an even yellow color throughout, it is at the same time delicate in first-flavor with a pleasantly robust after-taste. The lighter coloring of the surfaces giving way to the darker "reds" is the clue to full ripening and flavor.

Stuff Pork Chops With Mushrooms

The Home Service Department of an aluminum firm came up with this delightful method of transforming the humble pork chop into a meal fit for a gourmet's table. Called Mushroom Stuffed Pork Chops, the dish is sure to have your family calling for seconds and your friends beginning for the recipe.

MUSHROOM STUFFED PORK CHOPS
4 thick pork chops (1½ lbs.)
1 can (3 oz.) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
4 oz. sliced Swiss cheese, chopped

¼ cup chopped parsley
1 can (10½ oz.) beef gravy
1 tablespoon Sherry (optional)
Trim excess fat from chops. Slit each chop from outer edge toward the bone, making a pocket. Combine mushrooms, cheese and chopped parsley; stuff into pocket. Fasten with skewers or toothpicks. In skillet, brown chops; pour off fat. Add gravy and sherry. Cover, cook over low heat 1½ hours. Stir now and then. To thicken gravy, cook uncovered last 15 minutes. Chops may be stuffed with a bread dressing.

May Is the Salad Month—Try Lettuce Loaf Bread

May seems to be firmly established as Salad Month. This is the fourth consecutive year that Western Iceberg Lettuce, Inc., and the Best Foods Division of Corn Products Company have joined forces to remind us of the good eating and good nutrition salads can bring to our menus.

On one of these bright and beautiful May days, invite a few friends over for a light luncheon. You might serve luscious fruit salads—fresh strawberries, melon balls and avocado crescents arranged over shredded western iceberg lettuce tossed with bleu cheese dressing.

As a special treat, serve an unusually delicious bread to accompany the salads. Your guests will be intrigued by our Speciality of the House for the month of May, for who would guess that those emerald flecks in your tasty batter loaf bread corn oil and vinegar dressing... or perhaps rafts (crosscut slices) of western iceberg lettuce spread with a dressing of real mayonnaise and sour cream, then topped with pineapple slices, canned apricot halves and a sprinkling of chopped roasted walnuts.

Let's see, in a slightly sweetened would be finely chopped western iceberg lettuce? "Lettuce Loaf Bread" has fresh flavor everyone will enjoy. It's crunchy with chopped walnuts and lightly spiced with ginger and mace. An accent of lemon rind rounds out the delicate flavors and makes "Lettuce Loaf Bread" an excellent mate for fruit salads. Or serve it with cheese as a tea time or evening snack. What a conversation-maker this delightful bread will be at your luncheon—it's sure to keep everyone guessing until you reveal your secret.

Build Repertoire Of Salads: Warm Weather's Ahead

With warm and warmer weather ahead, build your salad repertoire right now.

A great colorful combination of ripe olives, mushrooms, artichoke hearts, tomatoes, green onions and cucumbers makes a super salad, indeed. Marinate the ripe olives, artichokes and mushrooms in sharp French dressing before tossing with crisp bright vegetables. A sprinkle of Parmesan cheese goes on before serving. For an especially complementary dressing, blend mashed anchovies with mayonnaise and chili sauce.

A cool, distinctive entree salad is rosy ripe olive sole mold. Simmer fillets of sole in a delicate wine sauce before adding to the tomato gelatin mixture. Ripe olive wedges and green pepper go in for texture and color contrast. Use a curving fish mold to shape it and garnish with whole ripe olives for a dramatic buffet offering.

When planning light salads and sandwiches for lunch, here's an easy filling combining ripe olives, chopped green pepper and tuna. Delicious to spread on rye or pumpernickel bread.

CALIFORNIA RIPE OLIVE SALAD BOWL

An unusual and sophisticated version of the favorite tossed salad adds color to the summer buffet.

- 1 cup canned pitted California ripe olives
- 1 (8-ounce) can button mushrooms
- 1 (8-ounce) jar artichoke hearts
- 1/4 cup tart French dressing
- Crisp salad greens
- 6 tomato slices
- 6 mild onion slices
- 12 cucumber slices

Shredded Parmesan cheese

Creamy Relish Dressing

Combine drained ripe olives, drained mushrooms, drained artichokes and dressing; stir gently and chill. When ready to serve, fill salad bowl with crisp lettuce, watercress or finely shredded cabbage. Arrange marinated ripe olive mixture with tomatoes, onions and cucumbers over greens; drizzle with remaining marinade. Sprinkle with cheese. Serve with Creamy Relish Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

CREAMY RELISH DRESSING: Blend together 3 mashed anchovies, one cup mayonnaise, 1/2-cup chili sauce and 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

RIPE OLIVE SOLE SALAD

Garnish this glamorous entree salad with crisp greens and handsome, glossy whole ripe olives.

- 4 fillets of sole (1 pound)
- 1/4 cup sauterne
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon basil

Water

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce

pepper

1 cup canned pitted California ripe olives

3 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Place fish in skillet with wine, onion, celery, salt, basil and 1/4 cups water. Heat to boiling.

Cover, simmer 6 to 10 minutes, until fish flakes easily with fork.

Remove fish from skillet, saving stock. Sprinkle gelatin on 1/2-cup cold water to soften. Place over low heat stirring constantly until gelatin dissolves. Combine with fish stock and tomato sauce. Cool until slightly thickened.

Add ripe olives cut into wedges, flaked fish and green pepper. Turn into 5-cup mold; chill until firm. Garnish with whole ripe olives and salad greens as desired. Serve with mayonnaise or sour cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

RIPE OLIVE TUNA FILLING

This make-in-a-minute filling is a zipped up tuna and ripe olive combination for delicious summer sandwiching.

1 (6 1/2 or 7-ounce) can chunk style tuna

2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

1/2 cup canned chopped California ripe olives

1/4 cup mayonnaise

1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire

1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine drained and flaked tuna with all remaining ingredients. Makes about 1 2-3 cups sandwich filling.

OLDTIME GINGERBREAD

1 cup sifted cake flour

1/2 teaspoon baking soda

1/4 teaspoon each salt and cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves

1/2 teaspoon ginger

1 large egg

Dairy sour cream

1/2 cup dark molasses

Butter bottom and sides of a square 8-inch cake pan; line bottom with buttered wax paper. On wax paper, sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Break the egg into a 1-cup glass measure; add enough sour cream to make 1/2-cup; turn into a mixing bowl; beat to combine; add molasses and beat to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients; beat gently just until smooth — about 1 minute; batter will be thin. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 25 minutes. Turn out on wire rack; remove paper; turn right-side up.

1 box (1 pound) light brown sugar

1/4 cup water

1 can (6 1/2 ounces) cocktail peanuts

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In a large heavy saucepan, combine brown sugar and water. Cook, stirring, over medium heat until mixture begins to simmer. Add peanuts and butter. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Remove from heat; let stand 5 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Drop from tablespoon onto lightly buttered baking sheets. Set aside to harden. Slide pralines off baking sheets with fingers — lifting them with a spatula may break them. Makes about 24. (These are the sugary kind of pralines that may have a few cloudy spots; the peanuts in them will stay crisp for a day or so after making.)

Sunlight Has Effect on Apple

Both direct sunlight and diffused light from sky and clouds has a great effect on the apple tree and the quality of the fruit. A recent study indicated that apples achieved highest color development when they had been exposed to 70 per cent to 100 per cent of the total possible sun exposure. With the cold nights and sunny days the natural weather conditions in Washington State apple areas, the fruit grows under ideal conditions for proper coloring and maturing.

'Full Bloom' Sets Pick Time

Harvesting of apples in Washington State's fertile valleys is estimated by the "Full Bloom" of the apple blossoms. This "Full Bloom" method records the number of degrees above 40 degrees in the orchards accumulated during the maturing process, then picking time is estimated from the date of "Full Bloom."

Seasonings Are Essential To New International Dishes

Seasonings and other flavoring ingredients are the most important elements of the international dishes so popular here today.

With a supply in your cupboard of the nine superior new dry sauce and gravy mixes which have just appeared, you've got the essential base for many foreign specialties as well as all the old-time American favorites.

These outstanding mixes have all the character, flavor and aroma of ones you'd prepare yourself.

The lineup includes white sauce, Cheddar cheese sauce, Italian-style spaghetti sauce, sour cream sauce, Hollandaise sauce, barbecue sauce, brown gravy, chicken gravy and onion gravy.

Only after years of thorough research and detailed development was the manufacturer satisfied that the finest ingredients had been selected and blended in the best proportion to provide sauces that offer us the utmost in flavor, consistency, preparation ease and versatility of use.

For example, the chicken gravy is a light golden hue, rich in luscious chicken goodness and delightfully enhanced with illusive spicing.

It's the answer to lump-free, quick and easy chicken gravy to use as the delectable base for a la king and casseroles or as a topping for potatoes, rice and noodles.

This new chicken gravy mix is the character ingredient in Emperor's Chicken.

It provides the subtle seasoning that makes a spectacular dish out of the mixture of crunchy vegetables, water chestnuts, mushrooms and tender chicken, crisp-cooked to succulent perfection in the Chinese manner.

The emperor never had it so good . . . nor will you until you try it!

EMPEROR'S CHICKEN

- 1 cup thinly sliced raw chicken breast
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1 pkg. chicken gravy mix
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 lb. fresh pea pods or 1 9-oz. pkg. Italian green beans
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cup sliced water chestnuts
- 1 3-oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Chow mein noodles

Cook chicken in margarine until tender. Blend in gravy mix and water; bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Add remaining ingredients except noodles. Cover; simmer ten minutes. Serve over noodles. Six servings.

Apple Pie Cake Is a Family Treat

There's special flavor to this luscious fresh apple-pie-cake that makes it an ideal choice for a "company's coming" dessert.

Made with the crisp, wine-like-flavored, all-purpose Washington Winesaps, this unusual dessert is ideal from the cook's point of view, as it's elegant looking and very easy to prepare. In today's Fresh Apple-Pie-Cake the batter is rather thin, so that it runs down between the apple slices, giving a special cover to the fruit.

You'll also want to use the late-harvested Washington Winesaps for the Apple Delight with Nutmeg Sauce, because this variety holds its fresh apple flavor and texture under cooking processes. This dessert is chock full of crunchy apples, and topped with a spicy sauce.

FRESH APPLE-PIE-CAKE
6-8 Washington State apples, peeled and sliced to make 4 cups

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1/4 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 tbsp. water
- 1/2 cup melted butter

Peel and slice apples thinly into 9-inch deep piepan. Mix sugar, cinnamon, and sprinkle over apples. Sift next four ingredients into a bowl, and add last four ingredients and mix until smooth. Pour over apples and bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes or until done. Yield: 1 1/2-inch pie.

APPLE DELIGHT WITH NUTMEG SAUCE

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. allspice
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. soda
- 3 cups Washington apples, peeled and chopped

Cream together shortening and sugar; add eggs and mix well. Sift together dry ingredients. Add to first mixture and combine. Add chopped apples. Bake in greased and floured pan at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Serve either warm or cold with warm Nutmeg Sauce. Serves 4-6.

Nutmeg Sauce

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. flour
- Pinch salt
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1 tsp. nutmeg

Mix sugar, flour and pinch of salt in saucepan. Blend with cold water until smooth. Add boiling water, stirring constantly, over low heat. Stir in butter and cook for five minutes. Remove from heat and add nutmeg.

Enjoy a TV Game With Mustard Frank

The chairs are soft and man-size, and the television channel is set for the baseball game. It's a father and son afternoon of mutual enjoyment.

At home or at the baseball park, a little refreshment is part of the game, and as at the baseball park, it's the hot dog and mustard that satisfies.

Of course, the comforts of home do make it possible to add a few frills like pickle and bacon to the hot dog, but the brown prepared mustard is the same as the mustard served in most major-league ball parks.

Add a cold soft drink and the scorecard, and you have all the essentials for a happy afternoon of game watching for the men of the house.

PICKLED-MUSTARD FRANK
4 strips bacon
4 frankfurters
1 1/2 tablespoons brown prepared mustard

4 dill pickle strips
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Partially fry strips of bacon, and drain on paper toweling. Split frankfurters three-quarter of the way through. Spread each cut part of frankfurter with about one teaspoon brown pre-

HORSE RADISH

- 1 teaspoon horseradish
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons brown prepared mustard

1/2 teaspoon salt
6 frankfurters
6 frankfurter rolls
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix horseradish, onion, mayonnaise, mustard, salt. Cut frankfurters and rolls in half lengthwise. Grease a shallow baking dish. Put roll halves and frankfurters, cut side open in dish. Spoon the sauce over rolls and frankfurters. Bake for 20 minutes. Place a frankfurter between two halves of rolls. Serve immediately. Makes six frankfurter-on-roll sandwiches.

Attractive Oriental Meal—in Minutes

You can always say, "Stay for lunch or Sunday night supper," and come up with an unusual and attractive company meal in a matter of minutes, when you keep a few cans and frozen packages of American-Oriental food products on hand.

Both recipes can be doubled for additional guests.

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH WATER CHESTNUTS

- 6 eggs, well beaten
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 1/4 cup chopped canned water chestnuts
- soya sauce

Beat eggs, salt, water and sour cream together with rotary beater, until well blended. Melt butter in heated skillet; pour in eggs and cook over a medium high heat, pushing them about quickly with a spatula while pan is tilted so that most of the liquid egg comes directly in contact with hot butter (this puffs up eggs, making them light and airy). Add chopped water chestnuts just before serving. Remove from heat while eggs are still moist; they cook to the right consistency in their own heat by the time they reach the table. Serve sprinkled with soya sauce.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHICKEN Noodle Chow Mein

- 1 package (17-oz.) frozen chicken chow mein
- 1 cup egg noodles (any width)
- 1 tsp. soya sauce
- 1 1/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Place frozen block of chicken chow mein in 1 1/2-quart casse-

Tasty Sour Cream Mold

Piquant and taste tantalizing best describes this Cucumbers Sour Cream Mold. The consistent high quality of today's dairy sour cream makes recipes like this superb one possible. Dissolve 1 regular package lemon jello in 1/2 cup boiling water. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Stir in 1 cup (1/2 pint) dairy sour cream, 1/2 cup shredded unpeeled cucumber and 1/2 cup finely diced celery. Pour into lightly oiled 2 1/2 or 3 cup mold. Chill until firm. Mayonnaise or a dollop of additional sour cream goes well with this.

Sailor's Ripe Olive Snacks are ready in minutes. Roll packaged refrigerated biscuits to 4-inch rounds and top with mayonnaise, canned tuna and a drizzle of lemon juice. Cover with sliced ripe olives and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Serve hot.

Roabees to Celebrate Their Grand Opening

Catering particularly to people on the go, Roabees, a new and excitingly-different type of restaurant located at 3555 El Camino, San Mateo (across from the Hillsdale Shopping Center) is celebrating its grand opening this weekend. Owned and managed by enterprising Joe Acosta, this is the second site (another location in Santa Clara), in what is sure to be a fast-growing chain. Roabees — the name is short for Roast Beef Sandwiches, Cold Slaw, Hot Apple Pie, plus beverages, make up the menu, and you couldn't ask for more. The prices are such that it brings the $1 lunch back in style. During the opening special (Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 27-28-29-30), Roabees will be "Two for the price of one." To treat someone to a FREE lunch or snack, all you have to do is present the coupon advertisement appearing on "Bright Lights" page. Open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to midnight, there is also a "Drive through window," which enables patrons to take home Roabees without getting out of the car. Attractive Desiree will be on hand to serve your order promptly.

WHILE SEEKING A NEW MAITRE D'HOTEL for his posh Village Pub restaurant in Woodside, Ralph Oswald, who also operates the Carrousel du Soleil in San Carlos, went to Los Angeles' famed Ambassador Hotel to find one of America's best — Lolek Jasinski. Handsome Lolek, a favorite of the film colony, won an American Express award for Duck Flambee, which he prepared at the swank Restaurant L'Amateur de l'Ambassadeur. Stars such as Carol Channing, Petula Clark and Bobby Darin insisted that only he prepare their favorite dishes at their tableside. . . . A brand new, de luxe kitchen was installed at San Francisco's Gold Street to serve gourmet steak dinners. Pepper or New York steaks, the special feature of the house, Sirloin-Briand, or Steak Sandwiches include green salad, potatoes and beverage — all for $3.50. Super-size 60-cent cocktails are served, and the famous New Year's Eve party every night at midnight is always in full swing.

PIERRE'S on San Mateo Drive is pleasing their dining patrons with all the qualities needed for complete palate satisfaction. Owner-chef Dewey Wong's menu prices are almost unbeatable. Nontime here is always busy, as most of the business people in the downtown area are aware of the special Merchant Lunches that are served daily. Breaded Veal Cutlets is an attention-getter. . . . For family-style dining, Fabbro's, Redwood City, provides a haven for Dad, Mom and the youngsters. Gaily-checked table cloths, informal table settings and waitresses who "welcome" children, all tend to make Fabbro's attractive to families. Prices are favorable to Dad's pocketbook, and Frank Fabbro's food is guaranteed to produce raves. . . . After recently being closed due to a fire, Nick Finocchio has his famous New Tivoli in San Francisco going full restaurant speed ahead once again.

ELSIE'S famous fountain, the Fourth Avenue food headquarters for countless business men, secretaries, shoppers and coffee breakers, rates "four stars" for its dandy menu selection for the "in-a-hurry" and "take-your-time" groups. Chef Sam Gawryluk features a daily Lo-Calorie Diet Plate which includes a large hamburger patty, sliced tomato, cottage cheese, Ry-Krisp Wafers and sliced peaches. It's guaranteed to be under 300 calories. Another daily feature is the "Money Saver Special" (entree changed daily). Sandwiches, seafood, salads, fountain service, and, in addition to all this, "Breakfast is served all day" . . . Seen enjoying dinner at the El Rancho restaurant in Millbrae, recently, were ex-Governor Pat Brown and his lovely wife. They were delighted with the food and service, as their smiles evidenced.

DINERS ARE STILL RAVING ABOUT the gala Italian feed held recently at Bruno's on Fourth Avenue. The Palenta, Chicken and Italian Sausage was "on the house" (compliments of owners Bruno Fava and Tom Zucchelli). Among the more than 100 people enjoying the feast was a group from the local outlet of Byron's Shoes, including Aaron Friedman, Nick Tripoli and the future owner George Eisenberg. . . . Billy Tava and His Tonga Trio now play for dancing nightly, except Sundays, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Fairmont's Tonga Room. Billy and his group are all San Francisco residents now but, appropriately, Billy is half Tonganese, half Samoan; William Netane is full Tonga and the other two members of the group, Eddie Nakiso and Tini Fituasi are full-blooded Samoans. Dinners are served nightly in the Tonga Room from 5:30, featuring Oriental and American cuisine.

WHEN DINING AT WONG'S, the new Chinese restaurant in San Bruno, ask chef and co-owner Matthias Mak to prepare on of his "specialties" — such as Chicken a la Mandarin, with Black Bean Sauce, served with green peppers, sizzling rice soup and a gourmet vegetable dish. Family dining is welcome here. The service, with pretty Sharon Wong providing the hospitality, couldn't be better. . . . Roy "Mr. Comedy" Awbrey, "The Man With 2,000 Jokes," who unleashes an unbroken stream of witty comedy and sight gags, is such a favorite at the Cameo Club in Palo Alto, that many patrons stay for two or three shows. . . . A group of 20 visitors from Paris, France, told Phil Lehr that the new Wellington Room at his downtown Steakery in S.F. was the most elegant steak house they had seen in America.

Booming Banquet Business At New Southern

It's good that new, enlarged banquet facilities are planned in the near future for the New Southern restaurant, South San Francisco. The existing "Southern Room" is always in demand and, from the looks of the New Southern "date book," it appears to be for quite some time. Last weekend, a gathering was held by Business Agent Charlie Young and the Carpenters Union, with over 100 members being present.

The Villa Hotel can be described as "Vibrant with Activity" — with increasing conferences and social events such as wedding receptions and women's club activities.

Steve Norton, director of sales at the Villa Hotel, says future bookings make obvious the fact that the hotel will be a busy gathering place throughout the Spring and early Summer months.

With the baseball season now on its way, the deck at Cap'n's Cabin, a favorite with many of the local ball players, is shoulder to shoulder with fans. "Cab-in Captain" Duane Eckert and "First Mates" John Peat and John Savini offer only "first class" treatment to their guests. Guitarist Frank Adams continues to strum his way right into your hearts with his musical specialties.

Juan Guerrero, "The Golden Voice of Mexico," in a recording and film star of Mexico, who is co-starred in the all-Latin revue at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa catina and restaurant in San Francisco. Everything is Spanish until handsome Juan surprises the Greyline Tour and regular patrons with his interpretation of the Jewish favorite, "Hava Negila."

Edith Lehr, wife of Marina, S.F. steakman Lew Lehr, is taking golf lessons at the Lake Merced Golf Club. She's determined to beat Lew before the year is out.

Carlo Fasolo Has "Winning Smile"

The smile Carlo Fasolo, "wagon master" at the Black Angus Chuck Wagon, is wearing, these days, is for real! And judging from the amount of business his new "All you can eat" restaurant is doing, is it any wonder? You're sure of a meal-time winner at the Black Angus — luncheon or dinner. The Western-style hamburger pattie and beans, as only chef James Pearce (a former Nevada chuck wagon plainsman) prepares them, is your Bright Lighter's favorite.

Goman's-Gay 60's Wall to Wall Crowds Seven Nights a Week

Night life fans along the Broadway bistro belt in San Francisco have discovered that at Goman's Gay 60's, they will see some of the most popular attractions, plus many innovations like the "Flying Topless," "Topless Girl on the Trampoline," and "Nude Girl on the Swing." Also the songs and music of Russell Lee and The Sleepwalkers and Birdie Lee, dancing and the everynight Amateur Topless Contests. No wonder the Gay 60's plays to wall-to-wall crowds seven nights a week!

Fried Chicken fanciers will be overjoyed with the Farm Fried Chicken served at Posters Coffee Shop and Pancake House (across from the Emporium). Whether you order it to eat in the dining room or take out, taste and quality are emphasized.

Seafood being one of my favorite dishes, and Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant also being one of my favorite, Bright Lights highly recommends the super-delish Rex Sole as prepared under the Licata restaurant roof.

Get Acquainted With Maine Lobster

I first became "acquainted" with Maine Lobster at the Touraine Hotel in Boston, some years ago. After leaving the East Coast, it wasn't until 1954 that I was again to enjoy this tasty dish. Pat O'Reagan, who operated the Oakland Airport restaurant at that time, had the wonderful idea of flying in lobsters from Maine fresh daily. This didn't last long, though, because of the many transportation problems.

Today, Emerson Murfee, popular owner-operator of the Villa Chartier and Lanai restaurants, has solved the whole problem of having Maine Lobsters flown in daily and served fresh at the Villa Chartier. He boasts of having a large tank in his spotless, stainless steel kitchen which is especially equipped to take care of the Maine Lobster demand.

So on your next luncheon or dinner visit at the Villa Chartier, "get acquainted" with the Maine Lobster—it's a menu stealer.

Plumed Horse Historic Spot

It's well worth a scenic drive to Saratoga just to dine at the historical Plumed Horse restaurant on Big Basin Way. Owned and operated by Frances Anderson, this little white cottage with its inviting veranda and white picket fence is not only an integral part in the history and development of the community, but also rates as one of the most outstanding dining spots on the West Coast.

A couple of years ago, Lucien Sabella, handsome "skipper" of the swank Fisherman's Wharf A. Sabella's restaurant, didn't know a golf club from a jockey's whip. Today, he shoots in the high 70's and even gives his former instructor a few pointers.
